IN NORTH

Rich Mine Found

REGINA (CP)—A tremendous deposit of the richest iron ore in the world has been found on Baffin Island in the Canadian Arctic, Arthur Laing, federal northern affairs minister, said today.

"It is unquestionably the best ore in the world," Mr. Laing said in a telephone interview from Swift Current. "It is so pure and of such quality it can be fed directly into furnaces."

Mr. Laing said prospects of developing the deposit were "exceedingly hopeful." One of the largest firms in the world, which he declined to name, was interested in the Baffin discovery.

The strike is estimated to contain 180,000,000 tons of ore, with 69 per cent iron. It is located on Milne Inlet, about 120 miles south of the extreme northern tip of Baffin Island, Mr. Laing said.

Mr. Laing first made the discovery public in an address to a Liberal party meeting in his home constituency in Vancouver South Tuesday. Reporters reached him in Swift Current today for details of the strike, the magnitude of which was only recently determined.

The minister, in Saskatchewan for a three-day speaking tour, said the major problem to be overcome in developing the deposit is to extend the shipping season at Milne Inlet, which now is ice-bound for about 10 months each year.

He said the federal department of transport will send two icebreakers to Milne Inlet next summer to do surveys on the possibility of extending the shipping season by several weeks. Development of the deposit would be economically feasible if the shipping season could be extended to three or four months, he said.

"If the deposit were at an open sea, it would be opened up at once. But we have a situation where ice reduces the shipping season to eight or nine weeks and we will see what can be done with icebreakers."

"The prospects are exceedingly good. We are hopeful we can get it out. We use icebreakers for shipping deliveries up there now."

Mr. Laing said the huge deposit was discovered by Murray Watts, "an outstanding prospector" in the north, who had been involved in the development of several mines.

FOUND 3 YEARS AGO.

Mr. Laing said Mr. Watts, a Toronto man, found the ore body about three years ago. Subsequent work had proved its "magnificent" quality.

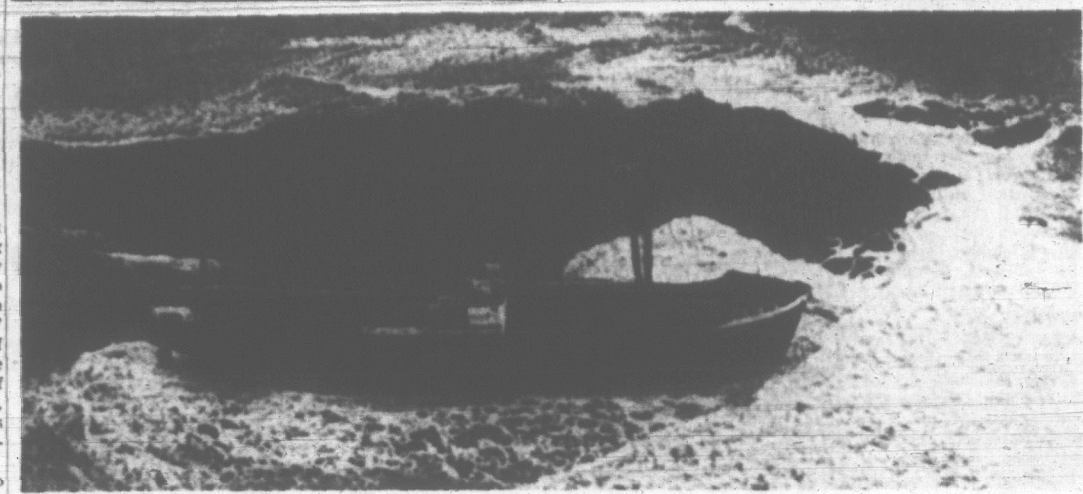

"It's absolutely free of impurities of any kind," he said. The minister said the "world-wide organization" which had expressed interest in the deposit estimated that 200-400 Eskimo workers could be employed in development; and that a "tremendous" price of $15 a ton could be obtained at delivery points in markets in Europe.

In comparison, iron ore produced in B.C. brought $8 a ton at delivery points in Japan. The company had not yet bought mineral leases in the area, Mr. Laing said. He said the firm was asking only one type of aid from the federal government—aid in opening up Milne Inlet.

EARTHQUAKE CAUSES THAT HONOLULU SWAY

HONOLULU (AP)—An earthquake centred on Hawaii Island shook parts of the main island of Oahu today, including sections of Waikiki Beach and downtown Honolulu. No damage was reported.

Tremors also were felt on Maui Island, where the Canada Cup golf matches are under way.

ABANDONED by her 18-man crew at Barachois Point, 95 miles east of Halifax, Liberian ship Fury is pounded by waves in continuing Maritimes storm.

MPs to Get 'Free Vote' On Capital Punishment

Police Killer Reprieved

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal cabinet today cancelled tonight's scheduled hanging of convicted killer Georges Marcotte and announced that Parliament at the next session will be given an opportunity for a "free vote" on whether to abolish capital punishment in Canada.

The last such debate in the Commons, in 1960, indicated a majority in favor of abolition but no formal vote was taken. The next year the Conservative government established the present system of capital and non-capital murder. Capital murder is the premeditated kind.

Marcotte, 32, was convicted of capital murder in the December, 1962, machine-gun slaying of one of two policemen who arrived on the scene of the famous "Santa Claus" bank holdup in St. Laurent, Que., near Montreal. One of the bandits wore a Santa Claus suit.

Such a conviction under the 1961 law brings an automatic death penalty, though it can be accompanied by a jury recommendation for mercy. There was none in this case.

LOST THREE APPEALS

Three times Marcotte appealed, once in Quebec and twice to the Supreme Court of Canada. He lost all three.

Twice the federal cabinet said—once last May and again Wednesday afternoon—that it would not interfere with Marcotte's sentence of death.

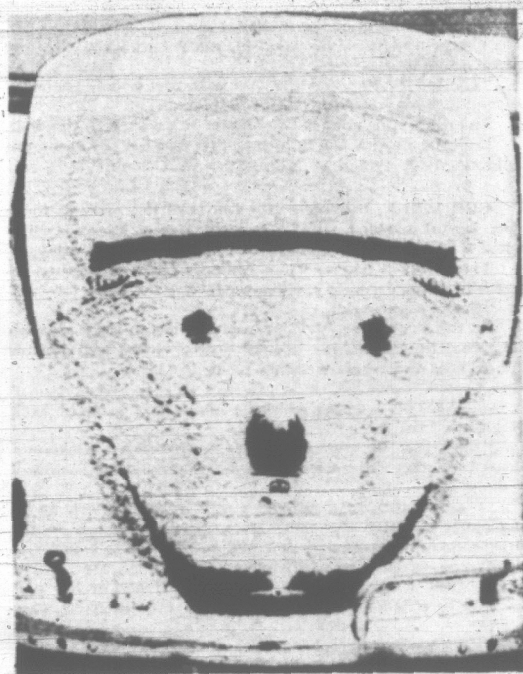

However, later Wednesday Marcotte's lawyer, Yves Mayrand, said he had received a letter from Jean-Paul Fournel, now serving a life term for non-capital murder in the same killings, offering new evidence in Marcotte's case in return for money.

Fournel was a key Crown witness against Marcotte. Justice Minister Favreau agreed to take this new development to cabinet. The result was this statement at 1 p.m. (EST) today—about 11 hours before Marcotte was to go to the gallows.

The cabinet statement read: "The minister of justice referred to cabinet this morning the additional submission made to him last yesterday afternoon by counsel acting for Georges Marcotte. This submission contained new representations never made to the governor-in-council (cabinet) nor to the minister of justice before."

"The governor-in-council now has ordered that the sentence of death penalty in this case be commuted to a sentence of imprisonment for life. Under the new parole regulations now enacted, Marcotte may not be released from imprisonment."

TEMPORARY?

Peron Resumes Exile in Spain

SEVILLA (AP)—Juan D. Peron resumed his exile in Spain today after a brief and unsuccessful attempt to re-establish himself in South America for return to Argentina, the nation that cast off his dictatorship in 1955.

Brazil blocked Peron's plan and ordered him back to Spain.

The reaction of the Spanish government was uncertain. Peron's back-to-Argentina campaign could be interpreted as a violation of one of the terms of his asylum, a pledge to avoid political activity. But officials in Madrid said they understood he would be allowed to remain temporarily, "until a definite decision is reached."

Whatever the outcome, Spanish authorities seemed to be shielding Peron from public attention. The airliner that carried Peron back across the Atlantic, scheduled for Madrid, was diverted en route to Sevilla, 250 miles southwest of the capital. Informed sources said the Spanish government ordered the diversion to keep Peron away from more than 100 reporters waiting for him at the Madrid airport.

The Brazilian government ordered the 69-year-old exile down back to Madrid Wednesday night on the same Iberia airliner that had carried him to Brazil from Spain. He had planned to go on to Paraguay, to wait there until the time was ripe for him to return to Argentina.

CANADIAN GM PLANTS IDLED

TORONTO (UPI)—General Motors of Canada was shut down today as 22,500 General Motors workers struck plants and subsidiary companies in St. Catharines, Windsor, London, Oshawa and Toronto to back up their demands for a new contract.

High-level officials from the United Automobile Workers' Union and the company were unable to come to any agreement on a new deal before the 11 a.m. strike deadline.

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India arrived today for a three-day visit to London, his first to the Western world.

His first official call was an audience with the Queen at Buckingham Palace. Then he had lunch with Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Shastri is seeking British backing for a new Indian campaign for a total ban on atomic weapons to counter the Communist-Chinese nuclear threat. Indian sources indicated Shastri also plans to seek more British economic assistance.

Non-Christians Urged To Unite World Effort

BOMBAY (CP)—Pope Paul met today in a small, unprecedented encounter with leaders of ancient non-Christian faiths and declared that all men must "begin to build the common future of the human race."

Twice he quoted Hindu scripture, first at the meeting with the non-Christian leaders, later at consecration of six new Roman Catholic bishops before more than 100,000 persons.

Pope Paul moved through his busy schedule without visible sign of fatigue. Smiling, he gestured in benediction whenever he approached a crowd, small or large.

The largest one gathered in the oval-shaped clearing of the International Eucharistic Congress where he consecrated the new bishops at a soaring outdoor altar. The Pope spoke of the new bishops as representing his greeting to all the world from India.

Pope Paul was driven to the ceremony through the assembled crowd in an open jeep with a hand rail to enable him to stand. But he did not use the rail. He stood and held both hands aloft continually in benediction.

WATCH FROM ROOFTOPS

The crowd in the oval and the thousands jammed on rooftops recalled the massive turnout of more than 1,000,000 who greeted him on his arrival Wednesday.

His day, however, began more quietly, in small audiences. One brought him together with the non-Christian leaders, and before them he cited a Hindu prayer and commended its use.

Marking a new dimension in the outlook of the Roman Catholic Church, the Pope asked the sages of Hinduism, Islam, Buddhism, Zoroastrianism and other non-Christian faiths:

PHOTOGRAPHER DIES, POPE AIDS WIDOW

BOMBAY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI today sent $5,000 to the widow of a young Indian photographer who was fatally injured Wednesday while taking pictures of the pontiff's motorcade.

The freelance photographer, Shyam Khaliyar, 26, was in a group of newsmen riding in a truck preceding the Pope's open car. He fell from the truck when it passed under a low bridge.

Khaliyar died early today after emergency surgery. When the Pope learned of the death, he immediately sent a cheque to the widow.

DETROIT (AP)—Police said a father apparently shot to death his wife, three of his four small children and a teen-age girl, then himself today.

Detectives said they found the bodies of the six in James Bergen's home. Another child was wounded critically. Bergen, 28, called relatives to tell them he had killed "my wife and children," police said.

They found Bergen dead of a gunshot wound in the head, slumped on his living room floor near a telephone. The officers identified the other dead as: Bergen's wife, Joyce, 22; a daughter, Linda, 18 months; and Robert, six months. Also killed was Mrs. Bergen's child by a previous marriage, Roger, six. Upstairs the teenager, about 17, was found shot in the head.

LIFE'S JUST TOO SHORT ALBERT DECIDES, EXITING

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Albert H. Zabala, 31, won't go home again.

He said he was presented with a list of conditions under which his wife Adelaide, 27, would accept him and he decided it just wasn't worth it.

The ultimatum: "1. No drinking. "2. Hand over to me every cent you earn. "3. No stopping anywhere after work. "4. You are not to see your sister under any circumstances. "5. You are never to go out of your way to do favors for people, taking them here and there. "6. If we should happen to get company, it is not necessary to make a trip to buy beer. "7. You are to do what I ask you to do when I ask you. "8. You are not to set foot in any bar even if you are treated to a drink. "9. Do not lend anyone money even if it's just $2. "10. You are to let me cash your cheque or if you cash it I am to see it first. "11. You are never to tell me any lies; if you should, I will find out. "12. You are not to do any bragging of any kind to anybody. "13. If there is any business you have to take care of, you are to do it early and come straight home early. "14. If you have to get a haircut, you are to get one early and not at night like you said before; and it shouldn't take all day. "15. You are to be on time always."

These 15 items covered a lot of territory, but she wasn't finished. The note concluded:

"All this I DEMAND (underlined four times) of you and more. If it is not agreeable to you, forget everything."

Zabala, a truck driver, did just that.

Mrs. Zabala, who filed suit for divorce last August charging cruelty, said she presented the demands to Zabala Wednesday in a pre-trial hearing on support of their two children, Lonny, 6, and Mona, 5.

Agency With Heart Helps Needy

By MARGE GILROY

The Unitarian Service Committee of Canada is known as "the agency with a heart."

It is non-denominational and non-political.

Since it was founded in 1915 it has provided emergency relief in areas of greatest human need.

It has demonstrated to others a way to help themselves.

It has created and promoted wider human concern for less-fortunate people everywhere.

Today it works in Asia, the Middle East and Europe where it supports more than 60 projects including child care, through sponsorship of children's institutions; educational and vocational training programs; social welfare centres; hospitals and mobile medical units; community development through self-help programs and large-scale feeding and clothing projects.

GIANT PROGRAM To carry on this giant program, USC director Dr. Lotta

Hitschmanova is asking Canadians for $330,000. In the past, Victoria has given generously with more than $100,000 raised here in the last 11 years.

This year, she helped Victoria pass the $14,000 mark.

(Times News Services)

OTTAWA—Ottawa's rousing civic election campaign reached a new peak Wednesday when a boisterous crowd at a rally was told that Mayor Charlotte Whitton might read the Riot Act.

About 300 persons turned out to hear 27 political candidates in one of a series of regional mass meetings of candidates in the Dec. 7 election.

The trouble began when Mrs. F. D. Richardson, chairman of the meeting, allowed Mayor Charlotte Whitton to change places with Roy Bushfield, a public school board candidate. Miss Whitton was scheduled to be the 24th speaker and Mr. Bushfield the 14th.

When the mayor finished her 10-minute address, Irving Greenberg, board of control candidate, complained about the switch.

Some members of the audience shouted support for Mr. Greenberg, and Mrs. Richardson, after speaking with the mayor, announced:

"The mayor has the Riot Act with her and is prepared to read it." Mayor Whitton did not speak.

Shouting continued until Mayor Whitton left the hall. Police arrived a few minutes later, but did not enter the building. They would not say who called them.

GRENOBLE, France — "Do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded wife?" Deputy Mayor Pierre Grillet asked a prospective groom, Jean Gelant, 73, Wednesday.

There was a pause. Then Gelant's children, sitting behind him at the ceremony, whispered, "Say no, papa, say no."

"No," Gelant said.

As the bride-to-be, Mrs. Renaud, 61, began arguing with the reluctant groom, the deputy mayor closed his register and ordered the whole wedding party to leave.

GLASGOW — Mrs. Catherine Leask was brought back alive from the city morgue today.

Mrs. Leask, 35, was sent to the morgue from Glasgow's Royal Infirmary. She was believed to have had an overdose of drugs.

An ambulance man noticed a quiver in her neck as he was about to leave the slab. He applied oxygen from his ambulance equipment and detected a faint pulse beat.

A spokesman at the infirmary said: "When Mrs. Leask first arrived, a physician could detect no trace of life and she was certified dead. She is now in the intensive care unit."

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. — A mechanical letter-sorting machine installed for $170,000 at the post office here in 1955 is up for sale.

The city scrap metal dealer has offered $100 for it. "The machine is old-hat as a Model T," J. N. Craig, director of engineering for the post office department, said.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — A 60-year-old Oklahoma City man has gone on a foodless diet for 120 days and lost 120 pounds in the process, the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation announced Wednesday.

Patrick J. McKenna weighed 399 pounds when he began subsisting on vitamins and liquids such as tea. At the end of the dieting, he weighed 279 pounds.

PARIS — More than 100 of Paris' prettiest girls decided Wednesday night to form a trade union.

They voted to call it the Syndicat National des Mannequins (Fashion Models' Union).

The girls, all Paris fashion models and mostly employed in the high-fashion establishments, want to make their employers give them six-month contracts and limit the number of foreign models they employ.

Victorian To Command Newest Ship

A Victorian now serving in Ottawa has been named commanding officer of HMCS Annapolis, the RCN's newest destroyer-escort.

He is Commander Robert G. K. Peers, 37, specialist in torpedo and anti-submarine warfare.

He attended Oak Bay High School and Royal Roads Canadian Services College.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. R. Peers, live at 2426 Windsor.

Cdr. Peers will assume his new appointment when the Annapolis is commissioned Dec. 19 at Halifax Shipyard Limited.

FLIGHT DECK

The Annapolis, 20th post-war destroyer-escort built by the RCN, is the name ship of another class which incorporates hangar and flight deck for the all-weather Sea King anti-submarine helicopter.

She is also equipped with variable-depth sonar.

A sister ship, HMCS Nipigon was first in her class and was commissioned in May at Sorel, Que.

Ships of the original St. Laurent-class destroyer-escort class are now being converted to match capabilities of the most modern submarines.

The Annapolis perpetuates the name of a Second World War destroyer which served escort duties in the western Atlantic from 1940 to 1944.

PORTLAND (AP) — The pain of driving through Portland in a north-south direction was almost completely removed today as a four-mile stretch of freeway was opened in the northern part of the city.

except with leave of the governor-in-council.

"At the same meeting, cabinet has decided to provide Parliament with an opportunity to consider the question of capital punishment on a free vote, in the next session."

RAISED IN COMMONS

In the Commons, T. C. Douglas, New Democratic party leader asked for a government statement on the decision to commute Marcotte's sentence to life imprisonment.

Mr. Favreau was not in the chamber and no statement was made. The Commons then turned to the flag debate.

There have been no convicted murderers hanged in Canada since the Liberal government took office in April, 1963. Since that time the cabinet has commuted the death sentences of eight convicted murderers.

The former Progressive Conservative government committed the death sentences of 32 convicted murderers and declined to interfere in 14 executions.

The capital punishment debate in 1960 was on a private member's bill sponsored by Frank McGee, former Progressive Conservative member for abolition of the death penalty except for wartime treason.

The bill was debated for two days and adjourned indefinitely. A total of 20 MPs spoke in favor of abolition of capital punishment, 12 for its retention and two were undecided.

B.C. Willing To Hold Back On Bank Role

Premier Bennett Wednesday said he would be willing to hold back temporarily provincial government participation in the proposed Bank of B.C. if it would speed acceptance of the charter application.

He was commenting on a senate banking committee decision to advise him to appear before it again Dec. 14 on the charter bid.

However the premier made it clear he will not drop his plans for purchase of at least 5 per cent of the share capital of the bank if it is formed.

An Ottawa report said a majority of senators were likely to favor the application if B.C. gave an undertaking to withhold any government participation until the federal Bank Act revisions expected next year clear up the question of whether provinces in future would be prohibited from investing in banks.

FEDERAL ACT

The premier said that if there were assurances of no delays in amending the federal act, he would consider holding back provincial participation in the proposed bank until that time.

But there is no prohibition in the federal statute, now against provincial participation, and the senate has "no right" to refuse the application on those grounds, he said.

He said B.C. is only asking "for a federal charter that is the same as any other bank."

Asked if he would consider dropping government participation altogether, the premier snapped "No."

He said any business group could form a bank with headquarters in Vancouver right now but no such move is afoot and that "is why the government has to give leadership."

GOVERNMENT ROLE

Premier Bennett said repudiation of the promise of government participation now would destroy investors' confidence in the government because they would put in their money relying on the promise.

The premier said he will be in Ottawa Monday for a routine conference of financial ministers and if the banking committee reconvenes then he would appear before it.

But he said he will not make a second trip to Ottawa before Christmas.

The premier also blamed "branch manager" mentality of West Coast newspapers and banks for opposition to the application here.

LONG DELAY

He said the senate has "delayed too long" a decision.

Financial interests in Montreal and Toronto are behind the opposition to the B.C. bid, he said.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, who previously went with the premier for an appearance before the senate banking committee, said he is awaiting a full report from the province's solicitor in Ottawa on the committee's decision.

He indicated he will decide after receiving the report whether he will go to Ottawa Dec. 14.

He paused, then added: "We must come closer together, we must come closer together with our hearts, in mutual understanding, esteem and love."

On this, the second day of his four-day visit to India, the Pope also called on Indian President Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan, a world renowned Hindu philosopher.

The Pope said that under the president's guidance India was advancing to greater prosperity and even more cordial relations with other nations.

'WE' WORK TOGETHER

Radhakrishnan said he felt the "ultimately, at the top all people will work together."

The Pope gave Radhakrishnan a cheque for $50,000 to help India's impoverished masses. Originally he was to have distributed gifts during a walk among the destitute in Bombay's wretched slums, but this was called off to avoid offending fanatic Hindus.

The pontiff also awarded Radhakrishnan the order of the golden spur, the highest papal decoration for non-Catholics.

Pope Paul presented the president with two silver candlesticks and two bound volumes of the Bible, signed photographs of himself and commemorative medallions.

Earlier the Pope met Hindus, Moslems, Parsees, Sikhs, Jews and Jains who clamored with outstretched arms to touch the "holy man from Rome."

Obviously delighted with the warm reception, the Pope spread his arms wide and solemnly made the sign of the cross, then smiled and reached down to shake some of the upraised hands in the group of 300 non-Christians.

During the talks with Indian civic and religious groups the Pope was presented with a copy of the Koran by the governor of Punjab State.

A group of Catholic Naga tribesmen gave the pontiff a Naga spear.

'FIGHT POVERTY, HUNGER'

In addresses to the various groups the Pope emphasized the need for unity between all peoples and called for renewed efforts in the "struggle against the ills that darken the lives of innumerable people all over the world: Against poverty, hunger and illness."

In his speech to the non-Christian group he said:

"We must come closer together not only through the modern means of communications, through press and radio... we must come together with our hearts, in mutual understanding and esteem and love."

Alcohol, Weather Blamed In Crash

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) — An inquest jury recommended Wednesday that seat belts be installed and used in all automobiles.

The recommendation came as the jury probed the Nov. 3 death of Rev. John Denny of North Vancouver. The minister died in a two-car head-on collision on the Upper Levels Highway.

The jury said Denny's car was proceeding on the wrong side of the highway and said contributing factors were Mr. Denny's blood alcohol content of .14 and adverse weather conditions.

The driver of the other car, Michael Harrison, 27, was wearing a seat belt. He escaped with a broken leg and concussion.

In this region of the world, inter-Christian alliance takes on heightened ramifications. For Roman Catholics constitute only a tiny minority—about 1.5 per cent—of India's 480,000,000 people.

No previous Pope has sat down in mutual exchange with inter-Christian alliance. For such a wide representation of the intensely devout and vastly numerous Eastern religions.

Senator Says Radio, TV Living Beyond Our Means

By STUART LAKE

OTTAWA (CP) — While the flag debate raged on in the Commons Wednesday, the CBC was taking another going over in the Senate.

Senator Gratian O'Leary accused the radio and television network of living beyond its means and thereby contributing to the destruction of the magazine industry in Canada.

Three other senators attacked the CBC before the red chamber passed government spending estimates for the year ending March 31, 1965. They include an $88,000,000 grant to the CBC and an additional $15,000,000 loan.

In the Commons the Liberals didn't put up a speaker for the second straight day as debate continued on a Conservative amendment to the flag committee's report asking for adoption of a flag with a single red maple leaf on a white ground with a red panel at each end.

The amendment, moved Monday by J. Waldo Monteith (PC-Perth), asked the committee to sit again and consider recommending that a plebiscite be held at the next federal election to allow all Canadians to have a say in the new flag.

DEBATE RESUMES TODAY

Five Conservatives and one New Democrat made speeches during the abbreviated 3½-hour session.

Senator O'Leary, president of the Ottawa Journal, said it is time for Canadians to insist that the CBC put on the best programs possible. Up to 60 per cent of the CBC shows could be termed good. But when the CBC asked for $103,000,000, the question was: Can the country afford it?

In 1963 the CBC carried programs costing $64,000,000 without a cent from sponsors. Programs with sponsors amounted to $31,116,000 but even these sponsored shows cost the CBC $1,000,000.

The CBC was a competitor of newspapers and magazines. Yet newspapers and magazines were being taxed in order to pay the CBC.

"The CBC sells its programs at a loss and that loss is made up by the CBC's competitors," said Senator O'Leary. "It is a mockery of our talk of free enterprise in Canada."

'IN DIRE STRAITS'

As chairman of the recent royal commission on publications he found the Canadian magazine industry in dire straits because Canada allowed two United States magazines, Time and Readers Digest, to compete for advertising.

But the fact that magazines in Canada were in a bad position also was because of government subsidies to the CBC.

When the CNR was losing up to $60,000,000 annually, there were cries it was a white elephant, a millstone tied to the Canadian nation. Yet the CBC was asking almost twice the amount and there wasn't a whisper from Parliament or the press.

There was one remedy call CBC President Alphonse Ouellet before a parliamentary committee once a year and ask

POLITICAL DIFFERENCES

Dollar Ties Canada to U.S.

Associated Press reporter Max Harrison, basing his observations on a recent tour of Canada, says Canadians want to "shuck off" a feeling of dependence on the United States. In this article, fourth of five, he details common Canadian complaints about U.S. influence.

By MAX HARRISON

OTTAWA (AP)—Canadians are determined not to let their country become a United States satellite or even to have the appearance of being one.

They have demonstrated their political independence by trading with Cuba and China and they are moving toward eventual recognition of the Peking government.

But they are tied closely to the U.S. through the North American defence system and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Since last year they have had American-owned nuclear warheads at two Canadian Bomarc missile bases.

For this reason, they are extremely sensitive to U.S. foreign policy decisions.

This accounts in part for the keen interest Canadians showed in the U.S. presidential election. Both Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker hailed President Johnson's victory as a guarantee of continued friendly U.S.-Canada relations.

On economic matters, Canadian nationalists find it much

more difficult to assert their independence. The two countries do more business with each other than with anybody else. About 60 per cent of Canadian exports go to the U.S., and about two-thirds of Canadian imports are from the U.S.

One common complaint of Canadians is that Americans own so much of their country that Canada is no longer master of its own house.

"There is no country in the world," says Finance Minister Gordon, "that can make any pretense of being independent if it does not control its own communications media, its own financial institutions and, in one way or another, the general nature of the decisions made by those who direct its industries."

Comedian Dave Broadfoot joked: "If President Johnson wants to do something to help celebrate the 100th anniversary of Confederation he might give Canada back to the Canadians."

INVESTMENTS UP

There have been efforts by both main political parties to discourage foreign investments, but the pressure of provincial governments and of business was so great the proposed measures were dropped. U.S. investments are increasing.

Non-residents, mostly Americans, control 70 per cent of the investments in Canadian petroleum and natural gas, 50 per cent in mining and smelting and 60 per cent in manufacturing. This means that major decisions often are made by people who live outside Canada. It also means huge sums of money flow abroad in interest and dividends.

Foreign control of Canadian economy worries Canadians and hurts their pride.

They are afraid, for example, that in the event of a business slump U.S. owners might close their Canadian subsidiaries and cause large-scale unemployment, while keeping their U.S. plants in operation. They also resent the application of U.S. laws, such as those restricting exports to Cuba and China, to Canadian subsidiaries.

Trade Minister Sharp has said Canada is not worried that the U.S. will be unfriendly but that it may neglect to take our legitimate interests into account.

AUTO PARTS VITAL

The biggest problem at the moment is the question of importing auto parts from the U.S. and exporting assembled automobiles to the U.S.

The seriousness of this problem, in relation to Canada's balance-of-payments deficit, can be seen in figures recently cited by External Affairs Minister Martin.

In 1963, Martin said, Canadian exports of automobiles and parts to the U.S. amounted to $36,000,000 while imports of automobiles and parts from the U.S. totalled $600,000,000. This is due mainly to the fact Canada's automobile industry, almost all U.S.-owned, consists largely of assembly plants and that high tariffs make exports to the U.S. difficult.

Canada now is trying to get the U.S. to end the tariffs so that Canada can build more cars for the U.S. market.

Watchdog Navy To Be Expanded

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The key word in Canadian naval policy has become "surveillance."

This means day-and-night, all-weather ocean watch for Soviet and Chinese submarines capable of launching missiles into North America.

Defence Minister Hellyer and the navy now are tailoring their plans for new warships to a policy of keeping eyes peeled and ears skinned over greater stretches of ocean for longer periods of time.

Intelligence sources said Wednesday that Russia now has about 400 submarines, approximately one-third of them capable of sustained operations in North American waters. Communist China has built about 20 Russian-designed subs.

It is believed that about 50 of the Soviet boats are capable of hurling missiles at North American land targets. Some of these 50 are nuclear-powered.

The key to keeping better watch on these submarines in the Atlantic and Pacific, informants said, is maintaining ships and planes for longer periods far offshore. Hence the construction of the Provider, a tanker supply ship in RCN service which can replenish anti-submarine ships at sea.

The plan now is to build two more supply ships, one for the Atlantic and one for the Pacific, as well as four additional helicopter-carrying destroyers.

TRIPLE WATCH POWER

Informants estimate the addition of these six ships will triple the surveillance capability of the fleet. The cost will be about $176,000,000.

The navy hopes that its $10,000,000 hydrofoil boat—a prototype now is under construction for sea trials in 1966—will further augment the surveillance capability.

Labor Council Backs Toone

Ald. A. W. Toone is the man to vote for again as city alderman in the Dec. 12 municipal elections, Victoria Labor Council delegates were told Wednesday night.

Bill Doneley, chairman of the political education committee, said the council's secretary-treasurer has "done a terrific good job" in the last four years.

He urged delegates to vote and get others to vote. "If we all do our job we can get Toone to top the poll."

du MAURIER testing never ends

Let's take another look.

In this simple statement, you have the philosophy of du MAURIER quality control. Sometimes the naked eye is not sharp enough, so the second look is taken through a microscope. That's one way in which tobacco, or paper, or packaging give up their secrets.

This procedure takes a lot of time. But when you produce cigarettes in the millions, and when your customers have come to expect an unvarying level of excellence, then you can never let up.

If you are a du MAURIER smoker, you are now enjoying the important benefits of this control—if not, make a test of your own. Smoke du Maurier—full King Size or regular size—for one week. ## New Jobs—or None?

In a recent address to the National Conference on Labor-Management Relations, Dr. John Deutsch dealt with problems of automation. As chairman of the Economic Council of Canada Dr. Deutsch is well qualified both by background and occupation to speak with some authority on this increasingly obtrusive development.

His words are of interest, for automation of industry, indeed of many aspects of our lives, is a process which cannot be faced in its full implications without a drastic revision of all our ideas derived from the world as we have known it. On the other hand, it cannot be avoided without an equally drastic rejection of the whole trend of modern civilization, and probably a turning-back to the less complicated existence of earlier centuries.

The paradox is that, as its end result, automation, with all that it implies in the freedom of humanity from labor, could also bring us to something similar to that earlier, classical mode of life, with electronics instead of slavery as the basis of mankind's leisurely existence.

As Dr. Deutsch observes, there is little use in trying to take a "defensive and negative attitude" on the problem. This is being done in some cases, by both labor and management.

Labor understandably fears that increasing automation of industrial and commercial processes must lead to loss of employment. There must be dislocations in a transition stage, and the transition stage of automation may last indefinitely. It cannot yet be proven that the jobs lost to machines or computers will be entirely replaced by the work involved in producing the machines, although obviously this will be true to some extent. Already we have experienced the phenomenon of considerable unemployment in a time of general prosperity. This may well be the writing on the wall.

The only answer for labor must lie in assurances of training for employment in other phases of existing industry or for entirely new forms of work created by our developing techniques and the invention of new products. In most cases these assurances are being given by industry today. As the situation sharpens they will inevitably become a part of governmental policy.

But it will be ineffective, even dangerous, for labor to insist on holding the clock hands back, to try to maintain processes and techniques, retain products and services which are being superseded by new goals in the march of science. The son of the man who made buggy whips produced steam valves, his son today makes transistors and the next generation may work at some as yet unimagined task.

This process of change and readjustment will need planning and direction, for it will occur at a much more rapid rate than ever before.

But management, too, tries in some cases to oppose the progress of automation. Through tariffs and subsidies it may seek to protect and preserve equipment and processes which are becoming obsolete, and so delay the acceptance of new methods. Governments tend to help management in this by agreeing to its demands. This is a losing battle, as Dr. Deutsch has pointed out. Such tactics will delay, at a cost, but they will not halt.

Still unsolved, indeed almost beyond imagination, are the problems of the farther future, when mechanization and automation will have taken over almost all the productive tasks, and the question facing mankind will, for the first time in its history, be not how to work to produce, but how to use its days for non-productive purposes. And this may prove a far more difficult problem than has that of physical survival.

Who's Fuzzy?

THE TONE OF THE controversy between Mr. John Rousset, national public relations director for the John Birch Society and Mr. Arthur Larson, director of the United States Information Agency under former President Eisenhower, perhaps does more to prove Mr. Larson's case than any argument.

Mr. Larson heads the newly created American Council for Civic Responsibility, a watchdog group acting against political extremists.

"I just don't think the right wing ought to be allowed to get away with this up-side-down interpretation of the election (claiming success)," says Mr. Larson. "It is incredible to get control of a party, drag it down to the worst landslide in the history of elections and then come out shouting that they've won a victory."

Among other points made by Mr. Larson is that many staunch Republicans voted Republican in spite of Barry Goldwater — "they weren't twenty-six million right wingers."

And Mr. Rousset's reply?

"Mr. Larson is one of those fuzzy international socialists that spends so much of his time attending international conferences—such as the Pugwash groups which are bent on destroying the sovereignty of the United States of America—that he must be excused from making any accurate comments on domestic affairs, which he obviously doesn't understand."

There you have John Birch logic. Anyone who talks sense rather than Birchism is a "fuzzy international socialist." To Canadian ears—and they are attuned because John Birchers have launched diatribes against elected Canadian leaders—this may seem a little silly. But it is mild compared with earlier Birchisms which linked a couple of American presidents and other distinguished American statesmen to the fellow travellers, or at least listed them as dupes of communism.

The Marian Anderson Tour

TRIBUTES FOLLOWING THE magnificent performance given by Marian Anderson in Boston the other day were tinged with a certain sadness. The occasion marked the start of what she has said is her farewell tour of the United States.

The decision of one whom some critics have called the greatest contralto in the world to withdraw from the concert stage touches not only those able to measure the magnificence of her voice with an expert's yardstick. It is also an occasion for regret on the part of those who know little of technical excellence in singing.

Miss Anderson's great triumph has been twofold—once in the world of music and contemporaneously in the world of humanitarian thought and freedom.

Through her, great musical organizations in the United States were required to open the doors of segregation. Rebuffed at home in her early years, she first found fame in Germany, went from success to success in European countries, and returned eventually to her homeland to overcome the rejection of the Daughters of the American Revolution which—through its refusal to permit her to use Constitution Hall—did much to destroy its own stature.

By 1939 she had won the Spingarn Medal awarded annually to a Negro for highest achievement. And in the years which followed, millions heard her, among them audiences at rest centres in Korea, in the courts of Europe, Japan, and in the White House to which her friend and early sponsor, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, had invited her.

It is to be assumed that the farewell tour will not deprive the public entirely of enjoyment of her glorious voice. As the praise for her abilities rises, it will be paralleled by a mute and ever-expanding tribute to her for her magnificent accomplishment in opening cultural gates to her race in the country of her birth.

Make a Whish

IN THE SPIRIT OF "IF YOU can't beat 'em, join 'em," is the latest product developed by "good old American know-how."

Several firms in the United States, a recent symposium on environmental technology was told, have started making noise generating machines designed to be used to cover up other, objectionable noises.

One of these gadgets looks like a table radio and is made for apartment dwellers who have neighbors that play their radio or television sets too loudly. Just turn on the noise maker and it emits a "whish-ing" sound that drowns out the neighbor's noise.

Obviously the next development is to produce portable noise-making instruments of roughly the same dimensions and weight as the average transistor radio. People who object to the raucous blare of rock-and-roll from radios carried about in public parks or at the beach could then have, instead, a nice steady "whishing" sound.

Perhaps this would not be an adequate substitute for bird song or the lap of waves upon the shore—but it would be better than rock-and-roll.

AFTER THE GENERAL

France Will Still Be There When De Gaulle Is Gone

BAFFLED by the behavior of France and President de Gaulle, North Americans make a grave mistake in assuming that nation and man are the same thing.

To be sure, the president acts as if he were the state, almost as if he were the fourteenth Louis. But a visitor has not been long in France before he realizes that many of its more intelligent people are deeply alarmed by the policies of their ruler.

One might suppose from the president's clanging ultimatum, that the whole nation was prepared to break with NATO, Germany and the United States, to smash the Common Market in which the French economy lives. On the contrary, this risk of isolation for France horrifies a large segment of the political community in Paris and its voters in the country.

These voices of criticism are muffled, however, by two factors: Gen. de Gaulle's mighty achievements have made him almost sacred, and even where he may be obviously mistaken the glory of his person and the apparatus of his government have stifled effective debate.

While the civil liberties of the citizen are as safe in France as anywhere in the world, political democracy, as we understand that system in the Anglo-Saxon countries, has ceased to function because Gen. de Gaulle need not answer to an elected parliament, except in the narrowest technical sense. He answers to his conscience, his private vision of history and to God.

The central mechanism of a parliamentary system, as we know it, is an alternative government in being. No existing government can be regarded as sacrosanct or irreplaceable. It can always be replaced overnight if it loses the confidence of parliament.

That is the theory of French politics also, but, at the moment, not the fact. To Gen. de Gaulle there is no immediate alternative or political danger. With his mystical grip on the French imagination he can do virtually as he pleases, committing his people to adventures which they hardly begin to understand.

In ironic contrast, considering its past, the West German state is far more democratic than the French. The Erhard government remains constantly under the suspicious scrutiny of a highly critical parliament and must obey its will. An alternative government is always ready to take office.

The policies and the future of France cannot be judged apart from those of Germany. No one knows that better than Gen. de Gaulle, as demonstrated by his French-German treaty and now by his threat to let it die if Germany joins the MLF.

Blind Spot

On the other hand, he does not seem to see, or at any rate never admits, that his own plan for a unified Europe, far short of true political union, must finally hand the continent over to German power.

The ultimate facts of power simply do not support the Gaullist concept for several clear reasons.

In the first place, Germany has been, since the War of 1870, a more powerful country than France. Two subsequent world wars proved, for the third time, that France alone could not resist Germany. Today Germany is potentially, if not actually, the most powerful nation in Western Europe.

Hence a continent committed, as Gen. de Gaulle would commit it, to a French-German hegemony, without some organic political union of all its nations would come under German domination.

Genius-Power Equation

Gen. de Gaulle doubtless believes that his genius would be sufficient to manage a Paris-Bonn axis and probably he is right, in the short run. But he will soon be gone and, with him, the only genius of French politics. Germany will remain, without genius, but with power. Once the grandeur of one Frenchman is removed the facts of power will emerge with sudden new clarity.

In the second place, Gen. de Gaulle's basic premise is demonstrably wrong, though many of his other premises assuredly are right.

The basic premise is wrong because it demands, and assumes the possibility of a Europe freed from what Gen. de Gaulle likes to call the Anglo-Saxon presence which, in plain English means the power of the United States.

It is impossible to suppose that Gen. de Gaulle really believes his own rhetoric in such stark, black-and-white terms, since it is only by American power that the French nation can be sure of survival. Moreover, if American influence could be removed somehow within France's borders it cannot be removed from all or, indeed, any of the other European states.

There, of course, is the crunch and fallacy of the Gaullist concept—French power is just not strong enough to coerce Europe. If it has to choose between two agonizing alternatives Europe will choose the United States, not France. How can it do otherwise when only the United States can defend it in war and is essential to it, economically, in peace?

The current debate on these alternatives is grossly misleading because they are not the only or the true alternatives. Even Gen. de Gaulle knows that France dare not isolate itself from the American power as he showed by instantly supporting the United States in the Cuban crisis at the risk of world war. In reverse, the United States cannot isolate itself from France at least not without the gravest damage to its defence strategy because France is the Atlantic gateway to Europe.

Need Anglo-Saxons

France and Europe require the Anglo-Saxon presence, have always required it in this century and require it more than ever today when they face the Russian giant, and a second giant arising in China.

Perhaps to a lesser degree, in a more subtle form, but nevertheless vitally, the United States requires a European presence in the Western hemisphere. For the great gulf that now splits the Atlantic region and endangers the United States can never be bridged until Americans learn to understand better not the ephemeral policies but the human beings of Europe.

The present lack of human understanding, not a lonely, stubborn man in Paris, is the real core of the West's problem and its danger but we lose sight of the vital point in accepting de Gaulle as the whole of France, the voice of Europe, almost a law of nature. He is not immortal and nature will remove him some day. France, with its splendid civilization and all its useful lessons for us, will still be there.

Tedious, Patient Work Puts Vietcong Ahead

ACCORDING to a document recently captured in South Viet Nam, every officer of the insurgent Vietcong's 261st battalion, which operates southwest of the capital of Saigon, is a card-carrying Communist, and on average they have been in the movement for 16 years.

An ex-Vietcong propaganda cadre has told me that his earliest political feelings were stirred before World War II when, as a farm boy, he resented French colon who owned thousands of acres in his native region. This vaguely nationalistic sentiment was reinforced when the Japanese defeated the French and proved that "yellow men can beat Europeans."

Then, in 1954, at the battle of Dien Bien Phu, the Vietminh, the Communist-led nationalist movement, proved it again by driving the French out of Indochina. The armistice left two Viet Nams: a Communist North and South, ruled by Ngo Dinh Diem.

Almost immediately, the Communists started working to unify the country. Transferred north, more than 150,000 Vietminh veterans began training for eventual infiltration southward. Others remained in the south, melted into the landscape, and started to mobilize sympathizers and create bases.

The process of persuasion was long and tedious. But within two years, 2,500 villagers were Vietcong activists and sympathizers, prepared to lay concealed spikes and booby traps against government troops or give sanctuary to Vietcong regulars. The Vietcong now claims to have 4,500 such rural bastions.

Weapons Accumulation

The Vietcong accumulated a wide assortment of weapons. Much of their early material consisted of Indochina war remnants, such as U.S. Springfield and French MAS rifles, but by 1961, they had collected nearly 14,000 American weapons enough to arm 30 battalions.

But equipment alone was not enough. The Vietcong force needed leadership, training and indoctrination; and to handle these jobs, the Vietminh veterans sent north in 1954 began to return.

They moved down through Laos and Cambodia along the tangle of jungle paths known romantically as the "Ho Chi Minh Trail." Or they came in seagoing junk, landing secretly along the southern coast. Altogether, well over 10,000 expert Vietcong officers, non-coms, ordnance specialists, political agents and others have infiltrated into the south.

Almost all of them were southerners by origin, and most went back to their home districts in the south. Are they aggressors? Legally, as Washington and Saigon claim, perhaps they are. But to the peasants in the countryside, many are native sons and relatives returned, as they claim, to "liberate the fatherland from the American imperialists and their treacherous lackeys."

Blending into their own population, these Vietcong activists are almost impossible to isolate. Distinguishing friend from foe has been the biggest dilemma confronting the government.

The lowest Vietcong units are the du-dich (militia) irregulars composed mostly of peasant guerrillas who serve as part-time soldiers. Poorly equipped and often unarmed, they may stage minor ambushes or serve as cannon fodder in major assaults.

In each district, the Vietcong maintains full-time companies armed with good rifles, automatic weapons, and often mortars. These units rarely operate outside their designated areas, and engage in such actions as razing pro-government hamlets, ambushing convoys, attacking outposts and assassinating officials. Some also enforce Vietcong tax collecting.

The Vietcong's elite troops—about 25,000 in all—are formed into 45 chu-luc (main force) battalions. About half of these are grouped, only for administrative purposes at present, in seven regiments stationed throughout the country.

In his book People's War, People's

Army, General Vo Nguyen Giap, the Vietcong's leading strategist in North Viet Nam, prescribed a protracted war of gradual stages—from small-scale guerrilla forays to larger, mobile operations, and finally the classical conventional battle.

But the build-up of American power in South Viet Nam precluded such a classic climax. For both the Communists and U.S. chances of a clear-cut military victory in Viet Nam are remote. The Vietcong's advantage lies not so much in its own strength as in the government's weakness.

In short, the Vietcong since 1962 has been working to win by default. General Vo Nguyen Giap put it in a different way when he wrote that the enemy "does not possess . . . the psychological and political means to fight a long, drawn-out war."

Unintentionally, governments in Saigon have been proving Giap correct. The Ngo Dinh Diem regime, which ruled until November 1963, governed in a clumsily repressive manner that provoked widespread opposition and led to its downfall. The military juntas and dictatorships that followed were not able to come to grips with the situation. The present civilian government is extremely weak, and its longevity is doubtful.

By extending their control over the countryside, the insurgents skilfully isolated Saigon and exerted enormous pressure on the capital. They were able, for example, to corrode the government's rural administration by killing local officials. They were instrumental in smashing the "strategic hamlet" program designed to place the country's peasants in protective stockades.

Most significantly, they managed to impress the people with their ability to strike when and where they pleased. And the average Vietnamese, unconcerned with the finer details of Communism or democracy, inclines towards the potential victor. Out of self-preservation, people lean to the side they think may win rather than the side they hope will triumph.

Most Vietnamese, who have known nothing but war for 20 years, desperately desire peace—and many would settle for peace at any price. But in any negotiated settlement, the Communists would certainly come out on top, since they would bargain from a position of strength.

Elections Would Aid Reds

Elections could indirectly lead to a solution the Communists seek. With its presence pervading the countryside, the Vietcong could approve candidates capable of dominating a future legislature. The consequence of that manoeuvre would surely be a "neutralist" regime whose first step would be to invite the Americans to leave.

Trying to prop up an anti-Communist government in Saigon, the U.S. seems more and more confronted by a choice of equally undesirable alternatives. It can continue to press its "pacification" program, which is not really working and would mean, in effect, maintaining a stalemate. It can escalate the war to North Viet Nam and run the risk of a general conflict in Asia. Or it can go along with some sort of settlement—which, however camouflaged, would be a defeat.

If all wars end in negotiations, as Ambassador Maxwell Taylor has said, the better of the bargain goes to the stronger protagonist. For, as another American soldier-diplomat, General Bedell Smith, put it: "You don't win at the conference table what you've lost on the battlefield." Depending on decisions taken in Washington, the U.S. may choose to expand the battlefield. For the moment, however, it seems fairly plain that the Vietcong dominates the battlefield inside South Viet Nam. It has done so, not through any magic, but by long, tedious, patient political, social, economic as well as military programs. In the process, it has proved that in certain situations, a tough, dedicated young guerrilla can be quite as effective as a nuclear bomb.

DENNIS THE MENACE

AN' SOMETIMES THERE'S NO SUGAR, AN' SOMETIMES THERE'S NO FOOTBEER. BUT THERE'S ALWAYS SOAP!

From Our Files

Dec. 3, 1904—Antwerp: Russia is reported to be again desperately seeking steamers for the dispatch of provisions and munitions to Vladivostok.

Dec. 3, 1924—Tokyo: The Brazilian Consul here notified the Japanese government that passports would be granted emigrants intending to go to Brazil, in reverse of an earlier Rio decision.

Dec. 3, 1944—Paris: The Allies have expanded their bridgehead over the Saar. Canadian and British troops are fighting bitterly on flooded grounds.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

When the Victoria Community Welfare Council's juvenile delinquency report was made public recently, suggested cures, given by those in public office, included putting working mothers back in the homes.

While I may subscribe to this idea, in theory, I know the time is long past when we can hope to accomplish such a miracle.

Right now we have no official policy in the matter of married women working outside their homes. Little, if anything, is done either to encourage them to take jobs or to discourage them from doing it.

Whether or not a married woman works is regarded as a private matter. Each woman makes her own decision in light of her personal values and circumstances.

Yet, the presence of married women in the labor force remains a controversial issue in the minds of many people, and many mothers who go outside to work have feelings of guilt.

It is my belief that you could take all mothers who are holding jobs and put them back in their homes and you would still have the current problems of juvenile delinquency to solve.

Too many other issues are involved—among them television, radio, moving pictures, reading habits, decline of the church in family life and a lessening of influence in the schools.

Far better, then, to re-examine our attitudes toward the place of work in women's lives and make up our minds what laws and social provisions are needed to safeguard their health and the well-being of their children.

Our most glaring failure is to ensure adequate day care facilities for the children.

Some people argue that to increase and improve such services would simply induce more mothers to leave their children and go out to work.

This is splitting hairs. There is clear evidence right now that the labor force includes a large percentage of mothers whose children are in the dependent stage. This may be from birth until they are 17 or 18 years of age or even older.

It is a matter of vital concern, both to these mothers and the community, that such children be cared for adequately.

Good standards of care should be established by law, after intelligent surveys of existing needs in individual communities.

These standards should definitely include more facilities where older children could spend the time after school.

Coupled with the juvenile delinquency report and any thoughts of trying to improve conditions must be acceptance of the fact that working mothers are here to stay.

Girls who have grown to adulthood since the last war, have no thought that marriage automatically means leaving paid employment. Today's young woman commonly expects to play the double role of homemaker and job holder, at least for a few years, and perhaps off and on through her life.

In this modern day we have an increased number of unmarried mothers, with the responsibility of working to provide for their children. There are also those mothers who are divorced or separated from their husbands or who have been deserted by them.

Add the ones who work to improve economic conditions in the home and you have a sizeable army.

The pattern has been created. We must do something to see that it is worked out correctly.

It won't be done by putting all working mothers back in the home; much as I would like to believe the solution was as simple as that.

It will only be done by an intelligent approach to the needs of these working women and the needs of their children.

This means creating laws that will help—not hinder.

Peron Myth Starts Fade As Comeback Bid Halted

By ROBERT COX

BUENOS AIRES (CP) — For 10 spendthrift years Juan Domingo Peron ruled Argentina and created a myth.

During the last nine years he has lived in exile, maintained by the myth and the millions of dollars stashed away in foreign banks through a decade of dictatorship.

Today, with the myth fading, Peron is flexing his muscles and threatening to stage the biggest comeback in the tragic and vain-glorious history of Latin American caudillos (strongmen).

Ever since he vacated his title by fleeing a military uprising in a Paraguayan gunboat in September 1955, Peron has continued to boast that he's the champ.

He has been saying he would return to Argentina before the end of 1964. Perhaps realizing that if he failed to keep his promise, he would lift the thrall he has held over Argentina by default, Peron took a first step on the way back this week.

Leaving Madrid, his latest home in exile, he flew to Rio de Janeiro, only to be halted by Brazilian authorities. Peron had been reported heading for Paraguay, planning to take up residence in Asuncion until he felt the time was ripe for his return to Argentina.

But the Brazilians refused to let him continue his journey, saying he was persona non grata in Brazil and not permitted to touch Brazilian territory.

TENSIONS HIGH

Nevertheless, for Argentina, the fourth largest nation in the hemisphere, the last days of 1964 promise to screw tension to a pitch of sustained nervousness.

Hanging over this once rich, now impoverished land of beef and wheat is the threat of civil war should Peron make good his promise to return. And the threat remains despite the army's promise to bar Peron's restoration to power.

In the nine years since his overthrow, Peron's shadow has grown longer as he has marked footfalls in a retreat from exile to exile. He slipped out of Venezuela and the Dominican Republic just before dictators who harbored him were overthrown.

Four years ago he found haven in Franco's Spain. He married his secretary, a girl almost a third his age.

He was received back into the Roman Catholic church, apparently forgiven for the night when, reflecting Peron's rage, Peronist goons burned and sacked the principal churches in Buenos Aires.

Distance and his remarriage—a blow to the faith of supporters who worship the memory of his second wife, Evita, whom he dubbed "the spirit of the nation"—and tried to have canonized—should perhaps have ended his hold on Argentina.

MADE PACT

But a continual flow of emissaries bringing back tape recordings of the leader's speeches and amateurish home movies of Peron that were shown in union locals and party committee rooms kept the myth alive.

He was able to hatch plots and make pacts, one of which elected a president who was later overthrown by the military because he allowed the Peronists to win heavily in later elections.

His influence and the 3,000,000—or a third of the electorate—who have obeyed his orders on what party to vote for, have made the military distrust the politicians. Countless rebellions in the armed forces have taken place as the military split into factions and waged war to impose a strong government that could withstand Peronism.

Thirteen months ago a constitutional government emerged after elections held under the aegis of the "legalist" commanders of the armed forces. They have pledged themselves to defend the weak government of President Arturo U. Illia, a 64-year-old former physician, against all forms of dictatorship and, since Peron began to threaten, even against himself.

SURVIVED OPERATION

It was shortly after President Illia took office that Peron announced he would return in 1964. Even his supporters did not take him seriously. He was about to be operated on for the removal of his prostate gland and rumors were circulating in Buenos Aires that he had cancer. Many Peronists thought their leader was talking from the shadow of the grave.

But throughout the year, following an apparently successful operation, Peron repeated his promise to return. Only one thing had changed. He made it known that he wanted to return to "pacify" Argentina.

Those closest to him say the 69-year-old demagogue now sees himself as an elder statesman, a de Gaulle-like figure ready to save his country. In short, he wants his army rank of general, back and wants 25 charges—ranging from statutory rape to treason—erased as well as an honorable place in history.

In secret negotiations with the government, Peronist leaders here have offered to support President Illia and not campaign as a party in elections due in March—in return for Peron's rehabilitated return.

The government has ignored

... REPORTING

OTTAWA — In the huge and complex machinery of government an executive assistant, even of a cabinet minister, should be no more than a cog.

In machinery of metal, cogwheels are designed and fabricated to withstand the maximum strains that may be put upon them. The reason is that a weak or defective cog can destroy the machine.

Several cogs in the machinery of government, each meshed into a Big Wheel, have recently proven defective. In two instances the Big Wheels were set into eccentric motion in sympathy with the defects in the little cogs, so that the Big Wheels were damaged and the whole huge machine nearly broke down.

This raises the question of whether the little cogs that are ministerial aides are sufficiently well selected, inspected and tested before being meshed into places where a weakness or a flaw can cause a disastrous breakdown.

In the office organizations of cabinet ministers, the "exec" is the minister's "man Friday." He is a postwar phenomenon; before the 1950s the man Friday was the private secretary, often selected from the party organization in the minister's riding, and usually occupied mainly with constituency affairs.

The exec may be no more than a glorified private secretary, or he may function as an assistant minister, with responsibilities in relation to ministerial matters. There is no criterion, because the rule of thumb is that the exec works under the minister's personal direction in areas where his abilities and the minister's needs intersect.

I have known execs who were merely speech writers and publicity men—and others whose influence on their ministers, and consequently on ministerial decisions, exceeded that of top civil servants. The outstanding example of the latter was Mel Jack, who for practical purposes was George Hees' associate trade minister under the Diefenbaker regime. Two Liberal ministers tried to hire old Tory Jack after the 1963 election.

Men of Mel Jack's ability are rarely attracted by the $10,000 to $15,000 salaries of executive assistants. Indeed, Jack turned down the Grit offers to accept a $30,000 job with industry.

But ministers who are burdened with responsibility, harassed by demands and pressed for time believe they must have execs—in addition to private secretaries and, in some cases, special assistants.

Moreover, an exec is a status symbol, necessary for the minister to keep up with the other 24 Joneses in the cabinet. Even the Speaker of the Commons now has one—and soon perhaps every parliamentary secretary will have one.

Able, experienced men are hard to find for these political appointments because there is practically no job security. However, there is a seemingly limitless supply of young lawyers with political ambitions who are eager to work in a minister's office for a couple of years. They have no interest in the work as a career, but only in the contacts and experience they will gain.

The risk a minister takes in giving responsibility and authority to an inexperienced, untested and self-seeking aide is out of all proportion to value received, as Justice Minister Favreau and Immigration Minister Tremblay should be about ready to admit.

'Lowest Form Of Patronage'—Car Dealer

BRANDON (CP)—Car dealer William Wilton says RCMP told him Tuesday they were taking away from his garage the servicing of four cars.

Mr. Wilton, past president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Brandon-Souris, said the cars were going to garages operated by Liberal supporters.

He said the move was political patronage "of the lowest form."

Mr. Wilton, who owns Wilton Motors, Brandon (59) Limited, said the four cars were bought from his garage in the last two years under a tendering system.

Under a long-standing policy, he said, he would service the cars he sold as long as they remained in Brandon and as long as his service was satisfactory.

He said he had given the RCMP cars service beyond the call of duty, and that he had been given no reason for the move.

FIFTH OF FLEET

The four cars represent about one-fifth of the Brandon RCMP fleet. Others are serviced at three other garages.

He said that in fairness to local RCMP, the move was ordered originally last July 1, and they had been "fighting" it since then.

Principle, rather than profit, was involved, he said in an interview.

And now cars were being moved around "to political heels of the Liberal party."

Walter Dinsdale, Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for Brandon-Souris, said in the Commons Monday orders had been issued to the RCMP in Brandon to relocate the service work for its vehicles, and this was against a long-standing policy of non-partisanship in the purchase of automobiles and trucks by the government.

U.S. Planes Hit Villages, Reds Charge

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist North Viet Nam charged Wednesday that 12 United States warplanes had bombed and strafed four North Vietnamese villages Tuesday, in a "new act of war."

A North Vietnamese foreign ministry protest, broadcast by the (Communist) Viet Nam News Agency, said the attack took place in "the northern part of the demilitarized zone" between North and South Viet Nam.

The planes, including four jets, allegedly struck the villages of Chali, Tang, Sa and Co-bai. There was no mention of casualties or damages.

No retaliation was threatened by North Viet Nam, but the foreign ministry said the U.S. and its "lackeys"—an apparent reference to South Viet Nam and right-wing Laotian forces—were "creating an utterly dangerous situation in this area."

Dogs Tore Prisoners, Court Told

DUESSELDORF (Reuters)—A Canadian witness told a West German war crimes trial Tuesday that a Nazi SS (Elite Guard) lieutenant at Treblinka concentration camp let his dog tear prisoners to pieces and gave orders to hang Jews head downward from the gallows.

Samuel Rajzman, 62, of Montreal said Lieut. Kurt Hubert Franz, 50, whipped Jews as they hung on the gallows and shot them.

Franz said the claims were "plain lies" and that he was "a victim of a secret organization."

He and 11 other camp staff members are charged with complicity in the murder of more than 700,000 Polish Jews in the Second World War.

Meeting Tonight For Prospective Foster Parents

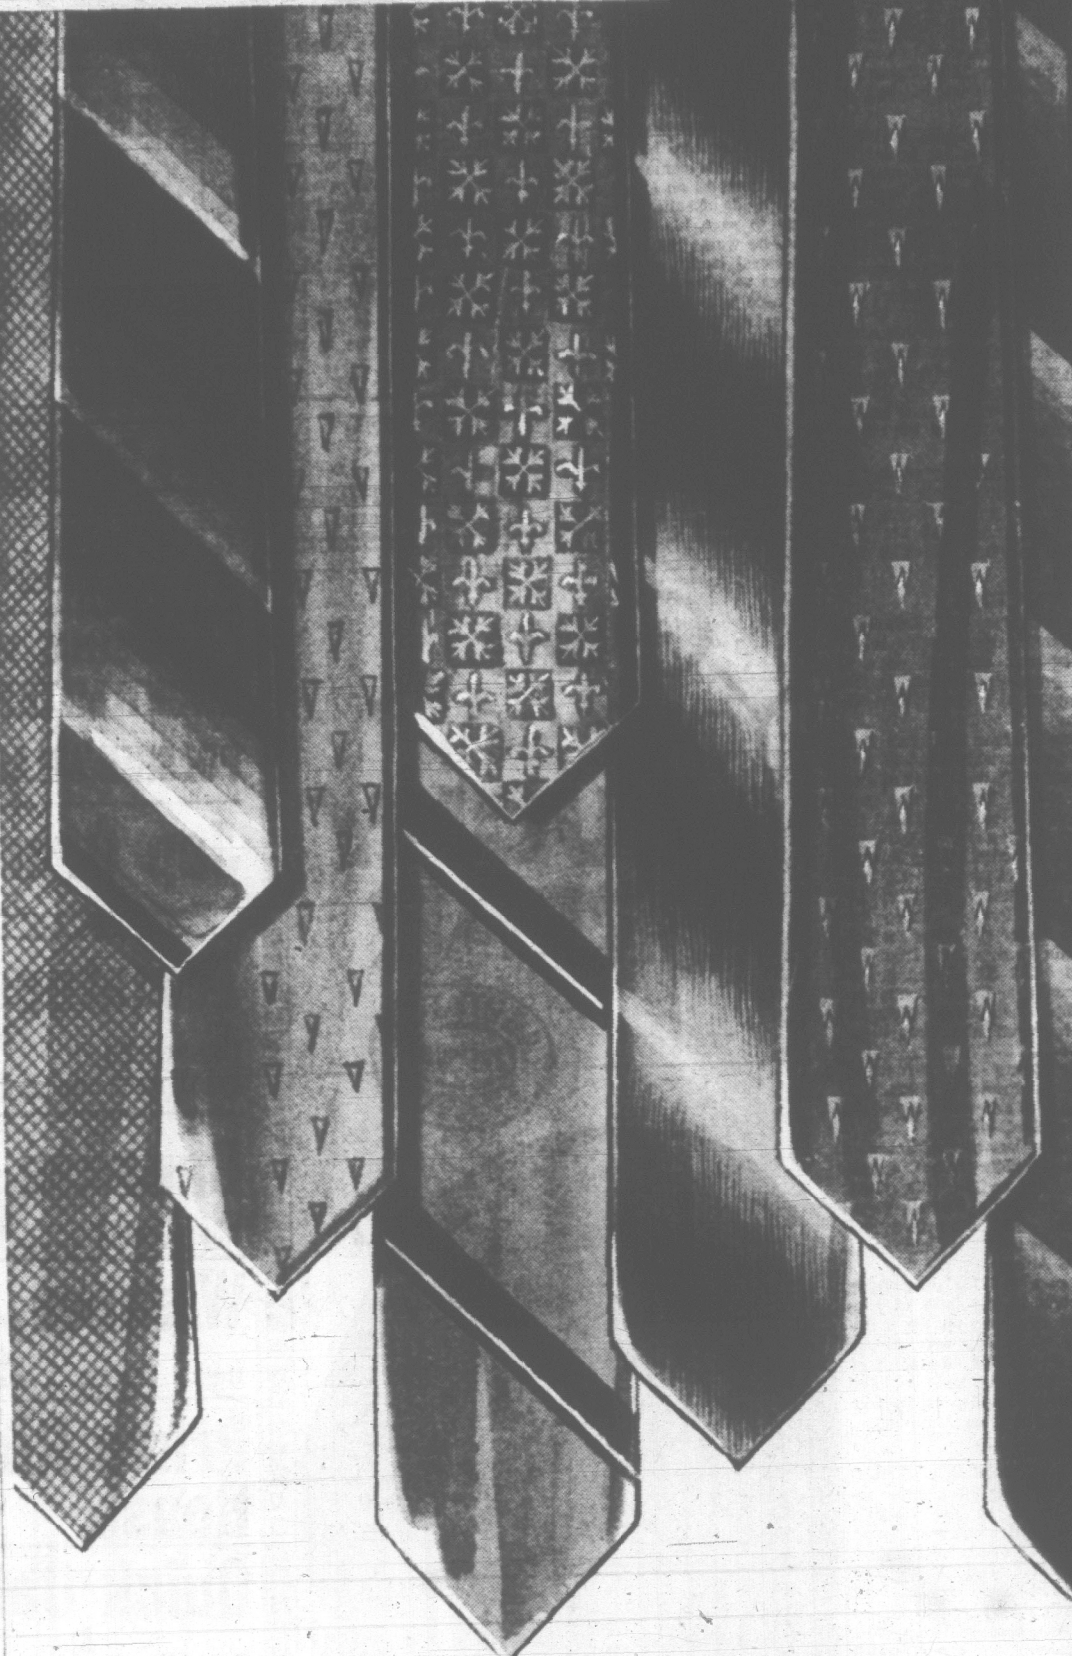

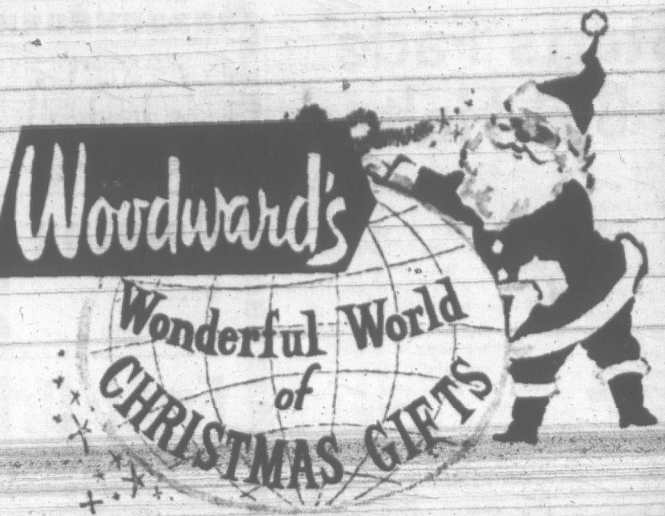

A meeting for prospective foster parents will be held tonight at 8 in Spencerhouse, 1951 Cook Street.

Speakers will be social worker Mrs. Faye MacBride and foster parents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barbary.

Anyone interested in becoming a foster parent will have an opportunity at the meeting to learn about the board rates paid for foster children, the clothing policy, medical care and all the other technicalities of taking a foster child, officials said.

Pushed Into Furnace

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A six-month-old girl was killed Saturday when two four-year-old cousins pushed her into a coal furnace, police report. Detectives said the cousins told them she awoke on a couch and fell to the floor and began vomiting. This scared them, the boys told policemen, so they took her to the basement and shoved her into the furnace.

FACE POSSIBLE DEATH PENALTY . . .

FOR RELAYING SECRET DATA

INTELLIGENCE CHIEF
PLANS TO STEP DOWN

U.S. Convicts American, Russian of Spy Conspiracy

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A Russian chauffeur and an American electronics engineer were convicted Wednesday night of conspiracy to commit espionage for the Soviet Union.

The verdict could mean death. Their penalty will be de-dicted by U.S. district court Judge Anthony T. Augelli, who presided over the 36-day trial. No date has been set for sentencing.

A federal jury of eight women and four men deliberated 9½ hours before returning the verdict against the American, John W. Butenko, 39, and his co-defendant, Igor A. Ivanov, 34.

Butenko and Ivanov were convicted of conspiring to relay secret air force information to Russia and of conspiring to violate the law requiring foreign agents to register with the state-department. Butenko also was convicted of acting as an unregistered agent for the foreign power—Russia.

Butenko, a bachelor of Russian descent, has been held without bail since his arrest Oct. 29, 1963.

Augelli granted a request by Ivanov's lawyer to continue Ivanov's bail at $100,000. The bail was put up Dec. 20 by the Soviet embassy, permitting Ivanov to return to his New York City home.

Butenko took the witness stand for two days to deny the government charges. He said he met a Russian diplomat in New Jersey on at least two occasions to seek information about relatives in the Soviet Union. He said he had never met Ivanov until after their arrest in a dark, deserted parking lot in Englewood, N.J. Ivanov did not testify.

WASHINGTON (AP)—John A. McCone is reported to have told President Johnson he would like to be released from his duties as director of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency in order to return to private life.

The reports, being heard in official circles here, listed former defence secretary Roswell L. Gilpatrick as the most likely choice to succeed McCone. Gilpatrick resigned a year ago to resume his law practice here.

OAK BAY

Waterfront Levy To Take Big Jump

The market value of waterfront property in Oak Bay continued to spiral upwards in 1963. Now the assessed values are being adjusted in the same direction.

Oak Bay assessor Colin Wyatt is already predicting that the assessed land values for some waterfront property will be increased by as much as 50 to 100 per cent.

Last year when waterfront property in the Uplands was reassessed there was an increase of about 25 per cent. This year the increase in assessments will not be as noticeable in that area as along other sections of Beach Drive.

All land within the municipality is being reassessed this year, but there will be no reassessments on improvements except where there has been new construction.

Last year the total assessed value of all land was $10,230,420, approximately $400,000 higher than the previous year. Figure for this year is not yet available but it can be expected to show a substantial increase.

HARDER TO GET

Not only is waterfront property increasing in value, it is also becoming increasingly difficult to acquire. In 1963 only six of the 313 property sales in the municipality involved waterfrontage.

In the first half of the year the assessed value slipped 2.8 per cent below the market value, and by the second half it had slipped 4.1 per cent.

Assessments are made on the basis of a sales analysis provided by the provincial assessment commission and should represent 50 per cent of the market value.

The assessor only assesses. He has nothing to do with taxation. Whether or not the increase in land values will mean an increase in taxes depends on the new budget.

Fluoridation Stand Blasted

PENTICTON (CP)—Agriculture Minister Richter Wednesday rapped the staff of the South Okanagan Health Unit for statements favoring fluoridation of water.

He issued a statement expressing regret and reminding the offenders it is "not the duty of civil servants to actively campaign for such issues, using the authority of government to sway voters."

Mr. Richter said the job of Crown employees is to provide factual material, to collect data and statistical material, not to take one side or the other when the issue faces voters in the form of a plebiscite, as it does here.

She used to be bothered by backaches and tired feeling. When she learned that irritation of the bladder and urinary tract can result in backaches and tired feeling, she took Dodd's Kidney Pills. Smart girl. Dodd's Pills stimulate the kidneys to help relieve the condition causing the backaches and tired feeling. Soon she felt better—rested better. If you are bothered by backache, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's.

DUE IN JANUARY

Traffic Survey Report Key to Civic Planning

A traffic survey soon to be published by Capital Region Planning Board will be a key-stone of future planning through the whole southern tip of Vancouver Island.

Provincial highways department and municipal planners of Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich Peninsula will rely on it extensively.

The report, commissioned by Capital Region Planning Board, the municipalities of Greater Victoria and the provincial government, will be published in January.

CRPB chairman Ald. M. H. Mooney said, "I think this report is very important to the area because traffic must be the foundation of all good planning."

"I know many projects are being held up until this report is in," Ald. Mooney said.

One of them is a revision of the six-year-old capital region master plan.

In creating a city plan, a planner adopts a number of tactics to ensure development in the way he wants. Zoning and traffic are two areas selected upon to try to bring about the best plan.

J. R. Genge, chairman of the city's advisory planning commission, said the survey will show what the travelling public wants, the patterns they will be likely to follow in the foreseeable future.

"But policy must be determined both by how the people would like to go and where, it is practical to make roads," Mr. Genge said.

Ald. Mooney referred to the report as a "plan for the future as well as today," and "a guide to development of all municipalities in the Greater Victoria area."

Other public and private interests are concerned with the study. For example, the University of Victoria, which must develop roads in co-operation with Saanich and Oak Bay; public transit operations; proposed commercial and residential subdivisions.

"We are also very interested in what main roads will be coming into Victoria," Ald. Mooney said, pointing to Patricia Bay Highway as an urgent example.

The provincial government, which is paying half the expense of preparing the report, will rely on it when planning major highways in the capital region.

"We can't change the directions of these because of the nature of our geography. But the routes may change," the chairman said.

AFTER DELAY because of a parliamentary investigation work to be done by royal commission investigating trading in stocks of Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd. and other companies with holdings in Timmins, Ont., area will start public sittings in January. The sittings, under Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly of the Ontario Supreme Court, above, are expected to last about two months. Probe had been expected to get under way last week.

HEAVY CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY WARNS

Skilled Worker Shortage Faces B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The current British Columbia construction boom may be faced with a slowdown because of a shortage of skilled workers.

Although the shortage was only spotty this year, Gordon Hodson, secretary-manager of the Heavy Construction Association, says he expects it to become general next year and acute by 1966.

Even semi-skilled and unskilled workers, flooding the province in recent months only to find jobs unavailable, may be in short supply if 15 projected pulp mills and several pipelines reach the construction stage and if schedules are met on the Peace and Columbia Rivers projects, he said.

It is estimated that 15,000 additional loggers will be required within 10 years to serve new pulp mills. Mr. Hodson said figures are available on manpower needs in other phases of industry, but that his association has asked the government for a survey into the province's total manpower needs over the next five years.

To combat a shortage the association is already co-operating with trade unions and government to set up school or field apprentice training programs.

The first school will be for operators of tractors, power ment. In the first season, perhaps no more than 20 will be trained, he said.

The next crop will be teamsters, who operate all hauling for the construction industry. After that will come training for rock blasting and earth moving.

But the programs will not be enough. "We are going to have to look to immigrants to fill shortages that are bound to occur in the next few years," says Mr. Hodson.

The search for more manpower is having an impact on British Columbia universities.

The first representatives of 225 companies here started scouring the campus of University of B.C. to line up graduates.

Demand is greatest for engineering and commerce graduates. Arts graduates also are wanted for management training.

The government is stepping in with training programs at interior cities and new vocational schools are planned.

Big Parley Next April

At least one Victoria representative is expected to attend a joint planning conference April 25-29 in Toronto, sponsored by Community Planning Association of Canada and American Society of Planning Officials.

Planning and zoning committee will recommend to city council that the conference be considered for the 1965 budget. Further representation is expected from the Victoria branch of the CPAC.

Because of the importance of the special meeting, CPAC will not hold its regular national planning conference in the fall of 1965.

Meat Cutters Get Increase In New Pact

Seventeen major chain stores have agreed to a three-year working contract with the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen covering about 140 persons in Greater Victoria.

The agreement at Safeway, Super-Vu and Shop-Easy stores gives journeymen and meat cutters an extra 40 cents an hour in five stages over the next two years.

The 80 men affected now earn $2.90 an hour with head meat cutters getting $3.15 an hour.

Female employees in the meat and allied departments of the stores will get 30 cents an hour, also in five stages over the next two years.

Their rate now is $2.15 an hour.

The agreement is backdated to last May and expires in May, 1967.

Signing of the agreement is a formality, said meat cutters' international representative George Johnston.

Negotiations will begin shortly at the meat departments of Hudson's Bay and Eaton's.

Similar agreements have been reached on the lower mainland covering some 600 persons.

Merchant Ship Tonnage Gains

LONDON (AP)—World tonnage of merchant ships increased by 7,136,000 tons during 1964 to reach a total of 133,000,000, Lloyd's Register of Shipping has announced.

The United States led the world with 22,430,000 tons although the size of its fleet decreased by 703,000 tons in the year.

Safety Plan Saves Gov't $175,000

Premier W. A. C. Bennett Wednesday handed out safety awards to officials of five government departments and then accepted one himself.

The awards presentations, made in the Parliament Buildings, recognized more than 2,800,000 man-hours of continuous operation by the six departments' total of 1,484 employees without an accident requiring more than three days' absence.

Provincial Secretary, M. D. Black, told some 35 government ministers, deputies and other officials assembled for the ceremony that the employee safety program had cut Workmen's Compensation Board assessments by 22.3 per cent during the first 10 months of this year.

26 PER CENT

He said this came on top of a 20 per cent reduction last year. Both injury rates and fatalities have been declining.

The estimated direct savings are $175,000.

"The reduction of injuries and the other costs of accidents in industry is a management concern, and as managers of government departments we must each concern ourselves more with our own department's record," said Mr. Black.

D. W. Adams, president of the B.C. Safety Council, presented the Million Man-hour Award to Premier Bennett and deputy finance minister G. S. Bryson who accepted on behalf of the finance department.

Premier Bennett quipped that it was no mean achievement "because all down through history the tax collector's job has been the most dangerous occupation."

VARIETY OF TRAVELLERS

Mr. Adams said that the finance department, besides clerks, had a large variety of travellers, inspectors, appraisers, machine repairmen, timber cruisers and maintenance men whose occupations were as hazardous as those in industry.

Premier Bennett presented bronze safety awards to P. J. Mulcahy, deputy minister of mines and petroleum resources, and J. D. Baird, assistant deputy minister of municipal affairs.

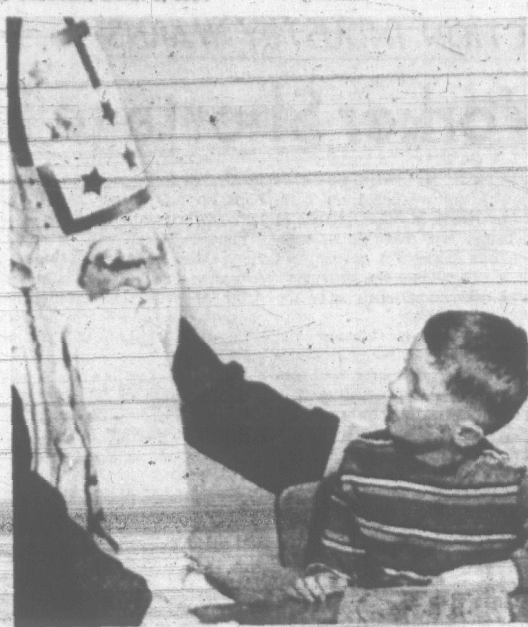

He also presented silver safety awards and replicas of his Gold Hard Hat Award to: deputy minister of commercial transport A. J. Bowering, deputy labor minister W. H. F. Sands and deputy education minister J. F. K. English.

City Parents Learn Son, 20, Rhodes Scholar

A 20-year-old fifth-year student at the University of Manitoba may be one of Canada's youngest Rhodes Scholars.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Slayton of 3611 Crestview learned Wednesday night that their son, Phillip, had been named Manitoba's Rhodes Scholar.

He came to Canada from England 10 years ago with his parents. His family moved to Victoria from Winnipeg this past summer, but Phillip remained at the university where he is taking an honors degree in political science.

B.C. Pensioners Get 'Sympathetic Hearing'

A delegation representing 18,000 pensioners in B.C. Wednesday said it received a "very sympathetic hearing" by the provincial cabinet in pleas for more medical assistance.

But Vincent Yates, president of the B.C. Old Age Pensioners, said the ministers disagreed with a request that school taxes be rebated for pensioners "below the income tax level" because they claimed the homeowners' grant was for that purpose.

Mr. Yates and Mrs. R. C. Smith, president of the Senior Citizens Association, said the joint delegation to see the cabinet was the first concrete step toward reuniting the two groups that split up 12 years ago.

Mrs. Smith said she thought amalgamation of the organizations "will occur in the foreseeable future although not right away."

HUSBAND SLAIN

'Diabolical Schemer', Wife Charged

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Shaking and sobbing, Mrs. Lucille Miller was accused in court Wednesday of drugging her dentist husband, Dr. Gordon Miller, 39, and leaving him to burn alive in their car last Oct. 8.

The 34-year-old mother of three burst into tears after taking her seat.

Handcuffed, she had just been met in the hall by her 14-year-old daughter Debbie.

"I'm sorry," Mrs. Miller said in a low, husky voice. "It's just that I haven't seen Debbie in so long."

Debbie also broke into tears at the sight of her mother. The defendant has said that the family car ran off the road and caught fire three miles from their home and that she was unable to rescue her husband.

The prosecution has said it will depict her as a "diabolical, social-climbing schemer" who murdered her husband because he couldn't provide the luxurious life she wanted and because she wanted his $140,000 insurance. The state says it will ask that she die in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber.

30,000 Infiltrators

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Viet-Nam sent 30,000 to 40,000 infiltrators into South Viet Nam during the last three years and the flow continues at a stepped-up pace, Ambassador Tran Thien Khiem said today.

Congo Gov't Men Discover Five More Dead Hostages

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP) — A mercenary-led government column penetrated further into the northeast Congo today in pursuit of rebels believed holding 500 whites as hostages. They found five more dead Europeans.

The rebels fled to Watsa, near the Sudanese border, as a government force of 30 mercenaries and 200 Congolese soldiers neared Bunia, 350 miles east of Stanleyville.

Bunia had a white population of 250, most of them Greeks, but the Congolese army found only two Roman Catholic priests there. The rebels were believed to have taken the other whites with them to join hostages already at Watsa.

Reports of the Congolese advance through rebel territory were fragmentary. Latest word said the government column was headed toward Paulis, southwest of Watsa, after passing through Poko and Zobia.

It was not known here whether the mercenaries have rescued British Protestant missionary Aubrey Brown, his Canadian wife and their four children, who were last reported at the Poko mission station.

However, a small plane load of refugees from Poko was reported by Reuters news agency to have reached Stanleyville and British Embassy officials here said they believe the Browns are among the whites freed.

Mrs. Brown is the former Hulda Schroeder of Waldheim, Sask. The Browns are members of the Worldwide Evangelization Crusade, an interdenominational organization.

Rebels at Stanleyville were reported entrenched on the west bank of the Congo River across from the European quarter.

Reliable sources said government forces combed the African quarter of Stanleyville and rounded up 16,000 Congolese who were being held in a soccer stadium for interrogation.

The sources said the position in the city seemed to be much more secure despite continued mortar fire by the rebels.

RUSSIA HITS 'SURPRISING' CONGO RAID

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party chief, denounced today the Western paratroop landing in the Congo and also said the Soviet Union is ready to help North Viet Nam.

But, in reiterating stands already taken by the Kremlin, Brezhnev withheld any specific pledge of direct Soviet intervention in either area.

He called the paratroop landing in the Congo a "surprising example of imperialist piracy" and said Western aims there are doomed to failure.

On Viet Nam, he said: "The Soviet Union cannot remain indifferent to the fate of a sister socialist country and is prepared to render the necessary assistance to her."

'Tis the Season to Go Into Hock . . . the Jolly Old Saint Started It

By LESLIE MILLAN

Now that the halls are decked with advertising and cash registers are jingling out a merry Christmas note, many a man's thoughts turn desperately to the pawnshop. This is appropriate. The connection between Christmas and the hock shop is as old as Santa Claus himself.

Pawn shops, you may recollect, used to hang three brass balls over the front door.

This sign was traditional, dating back many centuries to the era of general illiteracy. Nowadays, this sign isn't used much any more; although most U.S. pawnbrokers use a stylized, decorative, more modern version of the design.

These three brass balls are very closely bound up with the Santa Claus legend as it is still known in parts of Europe.

Santa Claus, after all, was a real person.

His current name is a mispronunciation of the Dutch version of St. Nicholas.

St. Nicholas was bishop of Myra, now part of Turkey, in the time of the Emperor Diocletian, and he seems to have been well-heeled.

He is reputed to have gone wandering at night handing out presents to the needy.

On one occasion during his nocturnal travels, he found out about three young women who couldn't get married because no dowries were available.

(This was in that long-dead era when young men wouldn't take a wife without a bribe attached.)

The jolly old saint returned a few nights later, the legend says, with three gold balls for the girls, one each.

Thus, no doubt, founding the ball-and-chain legend about wives.

However, the girls were duly hitched, and the three gold balls became a symbol of generosity.

Pawnbrokers, always generous chaps, took the symbol as their own, but prudently used brass balls.

Worry not, then, if you have to hock your pocket watch to buy your wife a Christmas present.

You're just honoring the Santa Claus legend . . . it's traditional.

Ground Rules Laid Down For Chamber

Use of city council chamber will be confined solely to meetings of council and social functions in which the mayor and aldermen are hosts on behalf of the city, buildings committee decided Tuesday.

The policy was established after council received requests for use of the chamber from outside groups such as the Association of Women Electors, who asked for it during the municipal election campaign as site of an all-candidates meeting.

The committee also laid down terms for use of the council chamber ante room:

For expanded use of the chamber itself during council meetings;

For use with the chamber as a reception area;

For use as a display area for historic or other material significant to the city;

For special functions such as Christmas carolling by school children.

Committee rooms will be for intermunicipal meetings, elected and appointed officials conducting city business, and boards or commissions of the city, such as zoning board of appeal, Victoria Visitors' Bureau.

NO POLITICS

Groups or organizations not related to local government will not be permitted to use the committee rooms — particularly political groups.

The city clerk will control the use of all rooms, and in the event of a conflict, the city manager will decide.

The aldermen will use their own discretion about the use of their lounge to the rear of the council chamber.

The city hall cafeteria, not yet in operation, will be open to use by the staff association and credit union for evening meetings not conflicting with food preparation.

Board Control Plan Withdrawn

OTTAWA (CP)—A $1 item in the transport department's 1964-65 supplementary spending estimates that would have placed Community Antenna TV systems under control of the board of broadcast governors was withdrawn last Friday.

The withdrawal was practically unnoticed in the last-minute rush of spending estimates through the Commons.

Transport Minister Pickers-gill rose when the item was called and asked permission to withdraw it "because it would be quite wrong, since it is controversial, to ask Parliament to pass it without debate in view of the fact it is new legislation."

NEW GOALIE TO JOIN VICTORIA TEAM TODAY

Victoria Maple Leafs of the Western Hockey League are going to have a look at a new goalie. Gary Smith, six-foot, two-inch standby net-minder for the parent Toronto team, was to join the Victoria team this afternoon, manager Buck Houle said. Smith, a 220-pounder, played with the Canadian junior champion Toronto Marlboros last season.

"This doesn't mean we're dissatisfied with our regular goalie, Al Millar," Houle added. "Smith was available and we thought we'd have a look at him."

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

A pair of bushy eyebrows that would look good on any buffalo came into the office of the Victoria Maple Leafs.

They were followed by Mr. Rudolph Pilous, a jolly, St. Bernard bundle of a man, the Leafs' cheer-leader.

Lately Mr. Pilous hasn't had much to cheer about. His Leafs have been more moribund than masterful.

In Denver last year much the same group of sweaty athletes were the terrors of the Western Hockey League. This year they often resemble terriers, some yip, a little yap but not much bite.

Last Saturday against Seattle, a team that has in the past been convincingly awful on the road, the Leafs scored five goals. Some weeks the Boston Bruins don't do that well.

But Seattle shovelled in seven as the Victoria defence practiced figure eights in lieu of what Pilous fondly refers to as "pounding heads."

"Seattle," Pilous was saying, "killed us with cuteness. Two or three of our guys would rush the man with the puck and he would just slide it over to a wing—either one. They were usually both open."

Pilous is no martinet but his fondness for blowing five-goal contests was manifestly expressed Monday. The Leafs were on the ice twice, morning and afternoon. And they weren't practicing figure eights.

Tuesday morning the leader called it quits after only an hour. Was he getting soft, letting the pupils out of school so early?

He shook his head. "Good work today. Best we've had. It isn't how long they are out there but what they accomplish when they are out there."

Not all the Leafs worked twice Monday, he said, indicating he is not a full-fledged Simon Legree.

Reaching into his bag of homey colloquialisms: "Sometimes you can get the bear better with honey than with a whip."

Rudy Has His Turn With the Needle

Then it was Mr. Pilous' turn to flex the needle. "How come," he asked, "your paper doesn't carry the OHA standings? That's where the pros of tomorrow are playing." (The OHA Junior League consists of teams like Toronto Marlboros, Oshawa, Niagara Falls and St. Catharines. It is a training school for adolescents with NHL ambitions.)

"All I get," said Mr. Pilous, the free-style talking champion of St. Catharines (his hometown) and Victoria (and most points between) is how Calgary Buffaloes or Edmonton Eskimos are doing."

(The Edmonton Eskimos do not play in the same league as the Calgary Buffaloes or the Lethbridge Canadians. The Eskimos play in the Canadian Football League, Western Conference. Sometimes.)

(Mr. Pilous was referring to the Edmonton Oil Kings, a junior hockey team of some repute except when they play the OHA representative for the Memorial Cup.)

Big Kids, and No Flitting About

Some fair hockey players in the Western Junior League, a man said. Like Frank Huck of Regina. Scored 67 goals or something like that last year. That's good production even in the Mothers of Mercy League.

"Huck, eh," said Mr. Pilous, making a face. "Edmonton picked him up for the last Memorial Cup series. I have to look in the program to find out who is Huck. There he is, gold helmet, flitting around the ice."

Fause for effect. And breath. "You know who won the Memorial Cup, don't you? Toronto Marlboros. Four straight. Big, strong kids. None of this flitting about."

Buck Houle, manager of the Leafs, and part of Pilous' audience, awoke from his slumber, put on his shoes and said: "Biggest team in hockey last year, the Marlboros. Averaged 185 per man."

Pilous' distaste for Western Junior Hockey is not exactly the best kept secret.

The commissioner of the SJHL is Frank Boucher, a player of great skills and unimpeachable conduct with New York Rangers.

Bone Shaking Curbs Scoring Habits

In seven of the eight years he was with New York, Boucher won the Lady Byng trophy, awarded annually to the player combining ability with clean fingernails and no homicidal habits.

Pilous reasons that Boucher's influence has turned the WJHL into the "Lady Eyng League," a status which could in part describe Huck's ripe goal production.

Huck, Tom Sawyer, Elmer Fhutensnot—anybody—is going to score goals by the bucket if he isn't made to pick wood out of his teeth from a bone-shaking body massage.

Was it always this way—hulking hombies in the East, fragile fancy-dance in the West?

"No, no," said Pilous. "In 1943 when I was in St. Catharines the kids weren't so big. I was out of the league for a while, then. When I came back in 1950 I had little guys like Buddy Boone, five-five and some smaller."

"We're playing Marlboros in the opener and Boone and the rest of my Singer's midgets line up on the blueline for the national anthem."

"I look at the Marlboros' blueline and here's Nesterenko, six-two and Stewart, 6-3, and somebody else, 6-1."

"I think, 'Migawd! They haven't finished the national anthem and we're down two goals already!'"

NICKLAUS, PALMER FAVORED

There will be 18 holes each day, concluding Sunday. The Canada Cup, put into play first in 1953 as an emblem of international goodwill through the medium of golf, is the big prize. It is determined by the total scores of two players.

The companion award is the International Trophy which goes to the low medalist.

Palmer and Nicklaus won the Canada Cup last year in Paris, and while Palmer has yet to capture the International trophy, he sounded warning Wednesday.

Palmer broke the course record in the pro-amateur prelude with a seven-under-par 31-34-65.

Best ball low score honors of 62 went to Palmer and his amateur partner, Howard Clark of New York.

President of the International Golf Association.

BEAUTIFUL TAN

Although her father, L. B., and brother, Ray, are professionals, Marlene Floyd of Fayetteville, N.C., only took up golf two years ago because she wanted to acquire a good sun tan. Today Marlene, 20, is well tanned, good enough on fairways to shoot 76 in competition and pretty enough to be selected the Most Beautiful U.S. Golfer of 1964. (NEA Photo.)

Rookies Keep Rangers On Road to Playoffs

By The Canadian Press

The Rangers are fighting. That's one point no one considered when New York was picked to wind up near the National Hockey League cellar. Another factor overlooked was talent owned by the Rangers corps of rookies.

Both were obvious Wednesday night as the Rangers fought from behind three times to tie Chicago Black Hawks 3-3 in the only NHL game played. The tying goal came from a rookie.

Glenn Hall from 10 feet out to earn New York the draw with less than four minutes remaining.

The tie moved the Rangers back into a tie for third place with Montreal and left Chicago three points behind in the constantly-juggled NHL standings.

More musical chairs are scheduled tonight.

Toronto Maple Leafs visit Montreal Canadiens while Boston Bruins meet the league-leading Red Wings in Detroit.

A Toronto victory and Detroit loss would put the Leafs in first.

KEEP UP PACE

The Rangers, figuring 500 hockey will get them in the playoffs, maintained that pace by taking their 21st point in their 21st game. But it wasn't easy.

Chicago went into the lead three times as both teams scored once in each period.

Stan Mikita stickhandled the length of the ice to beat Jacques Plante for a 1-0 lead in the first but Bob Nevin got that back six minutes later.

Eric Nesterenko got the Hawks in front again, scoring after Elmer Vasko had broken up a Ranger power play rush and fed him a pass. New York, however, scored on their next manpower advantage when Camille Henry netted his 10th of the season.

Kenny Wharram sent Chicago ahead again at 12:34 of the final. Angotti got the final equalizer four minutes later.

Baseball Makes Move To Cut Big Spending

Minors Approve Draft Plan; PCL Delays Vancouver Entry

HOUSTON (CP)—One of the most progressive moves in baseball history was approved Wednesday at the annual winter baseball meeting here, but trades made and missed were still of predominant interest.

The minor leagues, by a surprise unanimous vote, approved a draft of high school and college players similar to professional football.

The proposal was to be considered today by the American and National Leagues in separate meetings and was expected to win their endorsement.

There would be three drafts each year of players with no professional experience. The first two—in January and June—would involve college players and high school players who do not intend to attend college.

The third—probably in August—would involve only American Legion and sandlot players.

Each major league team would be allowed a single choice in each draft, with the teams getting their chance in inverse order to their league standing.

Commissioner Ford Frick said: "This new law, when it becomes effective, should be a strong factor in curtailing some of those exorbitant sums of money spent by big league clubs on untried talent."

It also appeared there was still a chance Los Angeles Angels would trade pitcher Bo Belinsky to Philadelphia Phillies, but no one seemed to know which Philadelphia player or players might be involved.

There was also a rumor that Johnson and catcher Jerry Grote of Houston and catcher-outfielder John Blanchard and pitcher Stan Williams of New York Yankees may be swapped.

Minnesota and Kansas City discussed a six-player deal involving outfielder Jimmie Hall, third baseman Rich Rollins and pitcher Dick Stigman of the Twins and third baseman Ed Charles, pitcher Wes Stock and outfielder Nelson Mathews of the Athletics. The Twins said they turned it down.

Pittsburgh Pirates were believed interested in outfielder Tony Gonzales of the Phillies but unwilling to part with left-handed pitcher Bob Veale or right hander Al McBean to get him.

There was talk of a three-way deal among Cleveland Indians, the Twins and Detroit Tigers. It would go like this:

The Indians would send right-handed pitcher Ralph Terry to Minnesota for one of three southpaw pitchers—Jerry Arigo, Jim Roland or Stigman.

The Indians would then send the lefthander to Detroit for outfielder George Thomas.

Pacific Coast League president Dewey Soriano said Wednesday he is confident the league will weather its latest crisis and operate with 12 teams again next year.

The problem developed when Boston Red Sox announced they wanted to pull out of Seattle and set up their Triple-A operation closer to home, in Toronto.

Los Angeles Angels agreed to drop their working agreement with Hawaii Islanders and take over at Seattle. The next step was to have Washington sign a working agreement with Hawaii.

Vancouver was to be re-admitted to the league, picking up the franchise recently dropped by Dallas, but the admission has been postponed pending settlement of the Hawaii situation.

If the Hawaii-Washington deal should fall through and Soriano said he considers this unlikely—the league would have to operate with 10 teams next season, Vancouver and Hawaii being left out.

Other league members are Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, Portland, San Diego, Salt Lake City, Denver, Oklahoma City, Little Rock and Indianapolis.

FANTASTIC PROPOSAL

Braves Offered All Paul's Boys Plus $5 Million

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Texans ain't pikers, huh, and Paul Richards proved it today with the disclosure of the most fantastic trade offer in baseball history.

Richards offered all 40 Houston players, plus $5-million, for all of Milwaukee's players, but the Braves turned down the bid.

"It was a legitimate and sincere offer," said the Texas-born Richards, who serves as Houston general manager. "I made the offer in complete good faith to John McHale and Bill Bartholomay."

McHale is president of the Braves and Bartholomay chairman of the board.

The offer was made three weeks ago in Phoenix, Ariz., at a meeting attended only by baseball's top brass.

"They were staggered by the offer," Richards said of McHale and Bartholomay, "but they rejected it. Both knew we were dead serious. If they wanted to do it, we were ready right there and then."

"And if any witnesses are needed, Judge Roy Hofheinz (Houston club president) was right there."

By one of those coincidences, Bartholomay happened to walk by as Richards was talking in the hotel lobby of baseball's convention headquarters here.

McHale likewise said he would rather not discuss the offer when asked about it.

Had the wholesale trade been made, roster-for-roster, it would have been perfectly within baseball law.

"There is nothing in the rules preventing us from trading who we choose," Richards said.

Nor was there any doubt about Houston being able to come up with the money as long as multi-millionaire R. E. (Bob) Smith, the club's board chairman, and Hofheinz were around.

Bartholomay did not reply.

They Got Tired at 900 Million

Was Houston ready to turn over a certified cheque to the Braves, Richards was asked. "Bob Smith's cheques don't have to be certified," he said. "Somebody once started counting his money and got tired at 900 million."

If the Braves had said yes, such stars as Hank Aaron, Joe Torre, Eddie Mathews, Denis Menke, Rico Carty and even Warren Spahn would have become members of the Houston club. Spahn hadn't been dealt to the Mets yet.

Even though the deal wasn't made, Richards still owns the distinction of engineering the biggest trade ever up to now.

He initiated and completed the 17-player deal with the Yankees soon after being named general manager and field manager at Baltimore in the winter of 1954. Don Larsen, Bob Turley and Gene Woodling all figured in that one.

Los Angeles Angels agreed to drop their working agreement with Hawaii Islanders and take over at Seattle. The next step was to have Washington sign a working agreement with Hawaii.

Vancouver was to be re-admitted to the league, picking up the franchise recently dropped by Dallas, but the admission has been postponed pending settlement of the Hawaii situation.

CURLERS' CORNER

By Ernie Fedoruk

All Vancouver Island curling clubs except Courtenay have their playoff picture in sharp focus on the club level.

The Comox Valley club has a Dec. 12 deadline but among the first rinks entered were RCAF crews skipped by Dave Paterson and Marty Fraser. At least four more are expected, including Dr. Grant Macdonald, who fared so well in last week's Totem Spiel at Vancouver.

In all, about 65 rinks are setting their sights on the Island men's championship.

A lucky 13 beat Monday's deadline at Victoria Club. The list includes Tony Gutski, Keith Dagg, Gar Taylor, Lyle Garraway, Don Matheson, O. J. Powell, Gordie Moore, Don Moss, Bob McIntosh, Steve Hayhurst, Elmer Hoffman and Ken Tooby. The 13th will be a rink from the B.C. Hydro League, still to be decided. Playdowns will be run off Dec. 16-18.

Esquimalt's playdowns are already in progress. Leading the 11-rink, round-robin play-off are Bob Gray and Lyle Gordon, each with 3-0 records.

Eight In Running at Allan's Rink

Play at Allan's in Saanich will be run off Dec. 15, 18 and 19 with eight entered. The skips tossing their hats into the ring are Jim Gallagher, Roy Allan, Ron Dutton, Ed Taylor, Sam Sobelin, Ray Paine, E. R. Heustead and Vera Meyer.

Four skips plan on questioning Glenn Harper's authority at Duncan. Mike Wallis, Mike Smith, Bob Bell and Freddie Duncan will challenge the two-time provincial champ in a series scheduled to start Dec. 12.

Incidentally, Harper's wife, Marg, has already been named the Duncan club's representative in Island women's playdowns. Supporting Mrs. Harper, for the second year in a row, will be Sharon Kaspick, Helen Berkey and Ada Fuller.

Five rinks will vie for the honor of becoming the first play-down representatives of the new Campbell River Club. Entered in a double-knockout affair Dec. 18-19 are four-somes skipped by Hank Emma, Arnold Cameron, Ralph Boyd, Bill Drycan and Norin Manning.

Marasco Rated Alberni Favorite

The club squabble at Nanaimo will be a seven-rink affair Dec. 17-20. Entered in the double knockout playdowns are Bob McCutbin, Doug Neff, Glen Phillips, Ross McNabb, Bob Dean, Gene Koster and Harry Shyska.

Ten four-somes are entered at Port Alberni, where the youthful Jim Marasco looms as one to beat. In addition to last year's Island champion, back with his same lineup, are: Al Leyenhurst, John Hart, Wayne Reid, Harry Strzaker, Bob Cummings, Jules Wenezek, Earl Ewart, Bill Wood and Rolfe Harrison. Alberni's series starts Dec. 12 and winds up Dec. 20.

LOOSE STRAWS: When the new Qualicum club, scheduled to be completed at the end of the month, opens its doors, Vancouver Island will boast 51 sheets of curling ice. Of that sum, 33 came into being during the past 10 years. November seemed to be a good month for perfect games. Campbell River's Frankie Serjeant, Victoria's Ivan Shillington and George Watson of Port Alberni, playing in a Rotary bonspiel at Nanaimo, all skipped rinks that scored eight-ends within the past month.

With the playdowns just around the corner, for most, the Consols-minded rinks will flex their muscles in the 16-rink invitational Spiel at Duncan Saturday. Victoria Club members will make their annual safari to Seattle Saturday morning. Esquimalt's Saturday League curlers are reminded of a change of time in their rock-throwing chores this weekend. It's a noon start instead of the usual 2 p.m.

Civil Service Bidding To Extend Puck Lead

Civil Service will be trying to bolster its lead in the Stuffy McGinnis League in a game against last-place Mercury Marine tonight at the Arena. Servants hold a two-point lead over Victoria Press, which played to a 3-3 tie with Yarrows Tuesday night.

TURKEY SHOOT

Gunners Chasing Christmas Birds

You won't find it listed in the game regulations, but the annual turkey shooting season gets under way this weekend.

Sportsmen chasing birds may use either rifles or shotguns, depending on the location they choose for hunting, and they are guaranteed plenty of shots.

Making things even better is the fact that all birds bagged will be already plucked and no licences are required.

The season about to begin is, of course, the annual round of Christmas shoots that will keep gunners in a tizzy trying to keep up with weekend events carded by Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association, South Vancouver Island Rangers and Victoria Gun Club.

STARTS THIS WEEKEND

Busiest day of all will be Sunday, Dec. 20, when cartridges will be popping at three locations.

Starting the ball rolling this weekend will be the fish and game club, which will stage a rifle and pistol shoot for turkeys and hams on its all-weather range at Esquimalt Lagoon.

Shooting will start at 10 a.m. and competition is scheduled for centre-fire and rim-fire rifles and for pistols. Special events will include shooting at balloons, gongs and turning-deer targets.

The rifle and pistol boys will crack cartridges in a similar shoot at the same range on Dec. 20, after the game club had held its annual two-day holiday trap shoot, Dec. 12 and 13, at its Goldstream grounds.

POPULAR TARGETS

South Vancouver Island Rangers will combine rifles and shotguns in two Christmas shoots, Dec. 13 and Dec. 20, at their Laxton layout.

Highlighting the Ranger events will be the popular running-deer targets and rifleman will be trying to collect a standing offer of $100 to anyone who scores a "possible" on the deer targets.

Rifleman will be chasing prizes in other events and shotguns will be blasting for birds on the Ranger traps, which flip targets fast and high.

Usually attracting the largest number of competitors is the two-day holiday shoot staged by Victoria Gun Club at its Albert Head Road property, where gunners will be busy through the day on Dec. 19 and 20.

STAR ARMY WINGER

Rifles Proud But Worried

The Queen's Own Rifles' hockey team is justifiably proud of George Ede.

But it wishes he would hurry back.

Ede is one of two members of the Victoria-based regiment invited to take part in the Canadian Olympic Ski Association trials in Ontario.

The other is Rifleman Don Dussault.

Both have been assigned to Camp Borden until completion of the ski trials.

Handlers of the Victoria army hockey team are proud but anxious. Anxiety stems from the fact that Ede's absence further depletes an already-suffering lineup.

The Rifles play Pontiac Chiefs in Friday's Esquimalt District Hockey League game at the Sports Centre. It's a key game. The Soldiers trail third-place Chiefs by two points.

GEORGE EDE

Army goes into this one with left-winger Ede out of town and at least three other regulars on the doubtful list. Duke Hurford and Todd Barnes are both bothered by leg injuries while high-scoring Dave Stones is away on course.

And manpower may prove to be the essential factor Friday because this is the "single game" stretch of the season. The regular doubleheaders will be no more until the University's Vikings return from their Christmas studies and exams.

It means the combatants will go the route in a regulation game with stoppage in play after every whistle, unlike the abbreviated doubleheaders.

Game time is 8 p.m.

'Half Taste' of Pro Game To Greet Touring Soviets

MONTREAL (CP)—Russia's national hockey team is going to get their first taste next week of what it's like to play against Canadian professional players with National Hockey League experience.

Admittedly, it's only half a taste.

But David Molson, president of the NHL Montreal Canadiens, said the fact six established pros will be facing off against the Russians is a "major breakthrough in what I believe may lead to an international play-off for the Stanley Cup in the foreseeable future."

HIS HOPE

Only NHL teams compete for the Stanley Cup, professional hockey's highest prize.

"It is my hope one day in the foreseeable future to see such a play-off," Molson said Tuesday at a press conference. "We (Canadiens) are very enthusiastic about the development."

The Russians begin an eight-game tour of Canada Dec. 11 when they face the Junior Canadiens at the Forum.

Molson announced the Juniors will be bolstered by six players from the Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League for the Russian game. It will mark the first time the Russians will have played against players of this calibre.

Aces, the AHL's Eastern Division leaders, are the most powerful team in Canada outside the NHL, and the six selected to face the Russians are largely responsible for this fact.

ON LOAN

On loan to the Juniors for the game are goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley, 35; defencemen Doug Harvey, 40, and Jim Morrison, 33; forwards Gordon (Red) Berenson, 25, Bill Sutherland, 30 and Leon Rochefort, 25.

Harvey is the most experienced of the six with 1,041 regular schedule NHL games during his 17 years with the Canadiens, and New York Rangers. A perennial all-star and considered one of the game's great defencemen, Harvey has been with the Aces the last two seasons.

Worsley played 11 seasons in the NHL with Rangers and Canadiens before joining Quebec last year. Morrison played 572 NHL games with every team in the league but Canadiens, and has toiled at Quebec since 1960.

Molson said the idea to bolster the Juniors with pros represents a compromise which the Canadiens made to accommodate the Russians who expressed a wish to play the NHL team.

Asked if this meant the Canadiens would be prepared to meet the Russians next year, Molson replied "under the proper conditions, we would."

Colquitz Takes Volleyball Title

Colquitz captured top honors in a junior secondary school boys' volleyball tournament on the Gordon Head campus Wednesday.

Colquitz topped the eight-team, round-robin tournament with a 6-1 win-loss record.

Esquimalt, Central, S. J. Willis, Lansdowne, Oak Bay, Gordon Head and Royal Oak were the other schools entered.

Three-Way Fight For League Lead

First is the crowded spot in the Inter-High Senior Girls' Basketball League these days. Victoria High and Oak Bay pulled into a three-way tie for the lead with Wednesday victories over Mt. View and Esquimalt Dockettes respectively.

Vic High's Tigers won their match, 31-21, sparked by Gail Streeter and Rita Roodbol, each with eight points, and Pat Barber, with six. Linda Edge scored 16 points and Cathy Robbins added six to account for all of Mt. View's points.

At Oak Bay, the Dockettes bowed 28-17. Oak Bay's mainstays were Sheila Shipley, with eight points, and Jean Robertson, with seven, and Marg Oliver, with five. Esquimalt's top scorers were Louise Turner, with six, and Sharon Withers, with four.

Former Schoolboy Ace May Join United Squad

Things might come alive for Victoria United in '65.

Ollie Owens, the small but very capable wing-half, is scheduled to rejoin Victoria's Pacific Coast Soccer League team any day now.

And chances are excellent of United signing a new forward in the New Year.

That would be Peter Gooding, an inside from England. A former schoolboy international, Gooding was rated high enough to be signed by Arsenal of the English League and to play with one of the Gunners' sponsored clubs.

Gooding, a close friend of Owens', will arrive in Victoria in January to take up a teaching post at Oak Bay.

United steps away to Vancouver for an important assignment against the front-running Firefighters, and that clears the Athletic Park pitch Saturday for what could be a crowd-pleasing doubleheader.

Oak Bay, the Victoria district champions, will play Burnaby South, the mainland's best, in a sudden-death game for the B.C. high school championship.

The school booters kick off at 12:15 and the match will be followed, at 2 p.m., by the District League's McGavin Cup final between Brodies and Canadian Scottish.

The international competition for the John F. Kennedy Trophy will revert back to competition between league champions rather than all-star teams, and that could add a lot of spice to Coast League play.

The Kennedy Cup tournament will be staged in Tijuana, Mexico, in May.

First division activity in the District League on Sunday calls for Gorge to play Victoria West at Heywood Avenue Park, Kickers and Esquimalt at Central, and Navy to meet Price and Smith on the Naden field.

In the second division, Oak Bay faces Sidney Hotel at Windsor Park; Oak Bay Marina and University Vikings tangle on the Gordon Head campus, and Gorge meets Wanderers at Topaz Park.

All games start at 2 p.m.

CORNER KICKS: Centre forward Bob Smith of Columbus continues to lead all PCSL scorers with seven goals. Four are deadlocked for second with five goals apiece. The Firefighters-United game will be played in Callister Park on Sunday. New Westminster Royals tackle Canadians in Saturday's fixture.

Gorge Turkey Hunters Firing in Two Stages

A dawn-to-dusk affair which attracted over 200 members last year, it will be staged in two sections this year.

$80,000 A SHARE

Bids Flow in for Rider Club

OTTAWA (CP) — Just four years ago, the Ottawa Football Club was purchased lock, stock and sweaters by eight men for about 12 cents a piece.

Next Monday, when the Eastern Football Conference club holds its annual meetings, each of the present seven-man board of directors will be offered up to $80,000 for his share.

Club president Barry O'Brien and director Sam Berger announced their intentions Tuesday to bid for control of the team. Two other prospective buyers popped into the picture Wednesday.

One is wealthy city contractor Robert Campeau, who says he's interested only in keeping professional football in Ottawa. Campeau indicated he'll go beyond $550,000 in his ownership bid.

The third bidder is former football great Eddie Emerson, now one of the directors and slated to succeed O'Brien as club president at the Monday meeting.

Neither O'Brien nor Emerson mentioned how much they were willing to sell but charges that "I would prefer Ottawa in are prepared to pay for Riders. O'Brien and Berger are representatives," he said.

PARKSVILLE CRIME WAVE

RCMP Patrol—Or Else

PARKSVILLE—Merchants, alarmed at a wave of burglaries in this Vancouver Island village of 1,200, said Wednesday night they may form their own store patrol if the community doesn't get a resident RCMP officer.

Ronald Thwaites, president of Parksville Chamber of Commerce, said he and chamber secretary-treasurer Anton Krut plan to go to Victoria today to ask Attorney-General Robert Bonner for a resident officer.

"If we can't get anywhere," he said, "we might form some kind of protective association through the chamber... we might have to do our own patrolling."

Mr. Thwaites said burglars, likely "inexperienced young people," ran amok in nine businesses early Wednesday. Little was taken and drugs weren't touched in a drugstore and a doctor's office.

The plate glass front door and a back door at Flynn's Drugstore were smashed and $75 cash, two lighters and a watch stolen. The only other loss was a few cents removed from Gene's Apparel, where a back window and cash register were broken.

Windows were broken but nothing taken at the Park Theatre, the office of Dr. D. M. Peterson and Thompson's Shell Service. A crowbar from the garage may have been used by the marauders.

A filing cabinet was damaged in the doctor's office, which had been hit twice before by burglars in the last 18 months.

Back doors were damaged or jimmied at Walkey's Shoe Store, Cornell's Children's Wear, the Milk Shop and Parksville Furniture and Hardware, but nothing was taken.

The furniture store has suffered more than $4,000 in burglary losses since 1961. Total damage and loss of money Wednesday was estimated by the merchants at about $1,000.

N. Cowichan Sets Target On Road Work

NORTH COWICHAN—If provisional estimates are approved, North Cowichan will spend $220,000 on its roads program next year.

Coun. George Whittaker, public works chairman, said Wednesday this was a target figure. There would almost certainly be cuts before the final budget came to council.

Among estimates presented were $24,000 for parks—almost double last year's figure—and $12,000 for forestry and new equipment.

Coun. Whittaker also told council it would be creating a costly precedent if it approved installing drainage on private property.

Gordon R. Lennox is asking municipal assistance in drainage of property at his Westholme store.

V.I. ROUNDUP

Life 'Cheap' On Highways

NANAIMO—Life is cheap on today's highways. Yet there is little, if any, outcry asking what can be done about it.

This was said Wednesday night by motor vehicles superintendent George Lindsay.

Speaking to the safety awards committee in the Credit Union auditorium here, he estimated accident deaths would exceed 400 this year.

The rate of accident increase would mean few people would be able to pay insurance premiums needed to operate a car.

At the same meeting, Staff Sergeant Frank Slater, head of Nanaimo RCMP unit, said there were plans to buy a radarscope and special traffic car for use in the city.

He said that with only 17 officers in the city the method of enforcing traffic regulations are "pretty thin."

He said: "The day has got to come when there is a bypass to the city of Nanaimo."

At present, though there are two police cars, neither one can be used full time to deal with traffic.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Elk River Timber Co. has shut down its logging operations for its annual road maintenance and repair program.

About 60 men are at work on the program with the other 60 laid off until operations resume early in January.

Loggers are repairing equipment, maintaining roads, repaving bridges and installing new culverts. Maintenance and repair program will continue until Dec. 17, when the whole operation will shut down for Christmas.

Logging operations resume the first week in January.

KELSEY BAY—Construction of homes in the new Macmillan, Blodell and Powell River townsites at Kelsey Bay has started.

Excavations are now under way for 10 homes. Six of the homes will be constructed by A & B Construction of Nanaimo, with another four by a Vancouver firm.

Associated Engineering of Vancouver has been at work in past weeks installing sewers. A sewage lagoon is now already under construction.

It is believed a shopping centre adjacent to the townsites will also be built.

Councillor Defends Choice of Arena Site

NORTH COWICHAN—Four candidates seeking three seats on North Cowichan Council were greeted by an audience of five at an open forum Wednesday.

The five included the fire chief in whose hall the meeting was held.

Coun. Dennis Hogan claimed the poor turnout indicated municipal affairs were running to the satisfaction of ratepayers.

Defending his recreation commission's choice of Fullers Lake, Chemainus, as the site of a proposed ice arena, Mr. Hogan said one of the reasons was to qualify for a centennial grant.

The commission realized the need for an arena in the south end.

This required co-operation of others, including Duncan and unorganized territory to the south. This could not be organized in time to get the grant.

SAD THING

If friction between north and south stopped plans for the Fullers Lake arena, it would be one of the saddest things ever to happen in North Cowichan, he said.

The Pioneer Park area near Duncan was a natural site for an arena but it was something North Cowichan could not undertake alone.

Bill Duvvevaardt said the fact Chemainus Community Centre had gone defunct was a measure of the support an arena at Fullers Lake would receive. The proposed site was away from the population density.

Toy Repairing

CAMPBELL RIVER—Repairing kiddies' toys is keeping Kinsmen busy these nights.

Club members here are collecting old toys to repair, and paint.

They will be distributed to needy families at Christmas.

Indian To Head Program

The first Indian ever to be named supervisor of community employment projects in the Cowichan Indian agency, Philip Paul of Saanichton, will be in charge of the winter works program until March 31.

The 31-year-old Indian from the Tsartlip Reserve will be in charge of programs for all Indian bands south of Qualicum Beach to Port Renfrew.

Bulk of the money for the program, $19,200, will be provided by the federal Indian affairs department.

ELECTIONS

In the East Saanich band, Chief Edwin Underwood was elected by acclamation to a fourth two-year term. New councillors elected are Earl Claxton and Norman Underwood.

Chief Sandy Jones and councillors Cecelia Jim and Gus Bill were elected by acclamation in the Tseyum Reserve at Patricia Bay.

On the Halalt Reserve near Duncan, Jefferson Norris was elected chief, to succeed Bernard Norris. Councillors are Johnny August and Arnold Sylvester.

CURTIS SEEKS BETTER EXCHANGE OF INFORMATION

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich has begun a series of meetings in the month since he took over the reeveship. The reeve said he initiated the meetings in the hope of better exchange of information at all levels.

Results of the first few meetings include the start of regular department head conferences, and a police commission agreement to meet once a month, instead of irregularly as in the past few years. Reeve Curtis described as "very good" a meeting he had with Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell on Friday. With him were Saanich municipal engineer Neville Life and comptroller-treasurer John Tribe.

The reeve said part of the meeting was spent in bringing the Saanich officials up to date on the proposed joint services board scheme.

A meeting with Victoria's Mayor R. B. Wilson is scheduled for late this week, he said. "Such a meeting is long overdue," said the reeve.

He has a number of problems to take up with the mayor.

Included are smoke and air pollution control, possible sites for recreational facilities, and discussion of the long-planned golf course for the Elk-Beaver Lake area.

"I think there are real possibilities for progress in that area of discussion," said the reeve.

Reeve Curtis said closed-door informal council discussions of the proposed Saanich capital budget indicate parks and recreational facilities may be included.

Answers to some of the questions posed by councillors at the last meeting still have not been answered by municipal staff, but it is possible Saanich will use some of the capital budget, perhaps, to acquire parkland for future development.

Reeve Curtis agreed with a comment by Attorney-General Robert Bonner that more recreational facilities would help curb juvenile delinquency.

He said the recent juvenile delinquency report by a committee of the Community Welfare Council will be taken up at the next Saanich police commission meeting.

The report indicated that parts of Saanich have the highest rate in the area for juvenile delinquents between 15 and 17.

However, the Provincial Museum will be open Sunday, Dec. 27 from 1 to 5 p.m.; Saturday, Jan. 2, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sunday, Jan. 3, from 1 to 5 p.m.

Hoover, King Meet For 'Amicable' Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rev. Martin Luther King, Negro integration leader who has been at odds with FBI director J. Edgar Hoover over the FBI's civil rights role, met with Hoover Tuesday for what he called a "quite amicable" talk. King spent about 1½ hours in Hoover's office at his own request.

King would not answer reporters' questions on whether Hoover had withdrawn his reported statement that King was a notorious liar. It was learned that Hoover told King the FBI has infiltrated the Ku Klux Klan and other racist groups, as it did the Communist party. This is the first time such infiltration has been revealed.

The FBI had no comment on what went on inside the conference room.

Some reporters said King later told them that Hoover had indicated there would be arrests in the next few days in the slaying of three civil rights workers in Philadelphia, Miss.

Arthur Mayse

The Royal Canadian Navy and I get along amiably until such a headline as "Sailor Injured When Car Rolls" tops a news story in this dedicated journal. Then, all in a trice, the guns are manned, and a mixed broadside of grape, canister and assorted oddments comes whistling around my ears.

Why, I'm asked, do we always pick on sailors?

Well, chums, even though I'm a detached skirmisher and haven't written a headline for years,

I propose to point my .22 single-shot Cooney at your steel-plated sides and blast away.

Specifically, I'm going to dish you up a serving of automobile accident headlines culled from as far back as 1938:

Miner's car skids into path of truck; policeman has spill; patrol agent injured in crash; horse-trainer to stand trial; sailor suffers lacerations as jeep, car collide; Ueluelet man dies after traffic crash; countless injured in highway mishap.

City alderman slightly hurt; teacher misses grand opening; juvenile unhurt in car flip; tourist hurt in crash of trailer; soldiers injured; seaman charged in child's death; soccer star killed; B.C. nurse killed; taxi-driver killed; trucker killed; bishop's car mows down 20.

I could go on and on, and so can anyone else who wishes to spend a day checking our grim records of highway disaster. But I hope my point is made.

To answer the newsmen's "who, what, how, where and when," we identify people as best we can in the space and time available. If you happen to be a sailor, or miner, or mow'em-down bishop whose guardian angel is off duty, the fact may, and often does, appear in headline type.

And let me assure you further, mates, that if one luckless day my little bull Lark goes berserk and assaults a Caddy, the news-desk crew will hook happy smiles round their ears and come up with something like this:

"SCRIBE IN COLLISION WITH VISITING ADMIRAL"

Pausing only to quote a head of the sort we like to use... "Navy Helps In Fight to Save Leg"... Let's peer for a moment over a desk-man's shoulder as, with seconds to go, he does his stint.

As in most trades, there's much that fails to meet the eye, and few outside the business have ever heard of the "unit count."

Heads aren't just banged out according to the dictates of fancy. They're tailored to fit and the job can be a heartbreaker.

In earlier years, many of the drawers around the big "horseshoe" news-desks held a jar of bicarbonate. I'm not sure what the boys do now... munch anti-acid tablets, perhaps.

Sometimes the desperation shows through. Not often, though. The average head is a neat capsule which says much in very little space, and a few remain quotable for years.

Since we've delved this deep into the works, I'll go on to give you the recipe for a well-ordered news story.

The head conveys the stark facts: bishop-car, and 20 mowed down.

The lead, which is to say the first paragraph or two of the reporter's story, enlarges on those facts.

Each succeeding paragraph develops the account with further information.

Ideally, an editor in a hurry (and when isn't he?) can fit a story to his available space by chopping paragraphs from the bottom. Thus, even if only lead and head remain, the reader will receive the basic details.

As a final suggestion, if a newspaper headline happens to irritate you, don't chew out the reporter who wrote the story. He, lucky fellow, didn't have to shoehorn a head on it to the time of a space-unit for each letter except "T," which rates half a unit, and "M" at one and a half.

Try it sometime. It's trickier than Scrabble!

INQUEST TOLD:

Death Slug Shattered In Pelvis

If the bullet which killed Allan Austin Moonie, 40, of 170 Hartland, had entered his body one inch higher he would still be alive, a pathologist told a coroner's jury today.

Charged with non-capital murder in connection with the fatal shooting is his 21-year-old son, Gary Allan Moonie, of the same address.

Mr. Moonie died Monday in Royal Jubilee Hospital as a result of the gunshot wound.

RICOCHET
Dr. Ross McNeely told the inquest the bullet hit the pelvis causing it to ricochet downward into the lower abdomen.

He said the direct cause of death was attributed to muscle damage, kidney damage plus peritonitis, an infection of the membrane lining the abdominal cavity.

When the bullet hit, it shattered into several fragments and spread throughout the pelvic region.

Dr. McNeely said several bone chips were removed from the man's body, ranging in size from a pinhead to that of his thumb.

Dr. J. D. Stenstrom, one of two physicians which attended the deceased, said there were two holes in his body, one on the right hip and one on the left buttock which was slightly larger.

TRANSFUSIONS

He said the victim received 15 pints of blood before bleeding was contained.

"Infection became his major problem until his death," he added.

He testified Moonie was conscious from time to time until his death.

The inquest was adjourned until Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in Saanich courtroom unless an order is received from the attorney-general's department to discontinue it.

Bail Asked In Charge Of Murder

Gary Allan Moonie, 21, charged with non-capital murder in the shooting death of his father, was remanded without plea to Dec. 10 when he appeared in Saanich police court Wednesday.

His father, Allan Austin Moonie, 170 Hartland, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital on Monday. He had been admitted to hospital with gunshot wounds to the lower abdomen on Saturday.

In court Wednesday, Moonie applied for bail.

Magistrate William Ostler told him he was uncertain whether he could grant bail, but told him he would check the situation and let the accused man know.

Moonie is represented by Vancouver lawyer Hugh McGivern.

STIFFER PENALTIES SOUGHT

It's Cheaper to 'Hit and Run' Than Face Impairment Charge

By PETE LOUDON

An inefficient law is largely to blame for the large number of hit and run incidents in Greater Victoria.

In many cases, it's cheaper to run and be caught than to stay and take your medicine.

No policeman will come out and say this. They don't want to spread the sorry information.

But it's a fact that a drinking driver faces a fine of $300 to $350 if he stays at the scene of an accident and is convicted of impaired driving.

He is also faced with possible heavy damages, because his insurance is void if he is ruled impaired.

On the other hand, if he runs, he faces a probable fine of $100 if he is caught. In the period between the accident and his arrest, you can bet he'll become sober.

And if he runs there is a 50-50 chance he'll get away.

Last year there were 304 hit and run incidents which resulted in only 126 convictions.

This year, prior to the end of October, there were 235 hit and run cases recorded by the city police and only 134 of these cases were solved.

Vancouver has surpassed already, last year's record of 1,709 fleeing drivers and a 20 per cent increase is forecast, this year. Two of the 116 people left lying on the pavement died.

Why tell this story? Won't it make more drivers run if they've been drinking and they have an accident?

Don't fool yourself. The statistics prove that the facts are well known now by the people who take the calculated risk of drinking too much before driving home.

The people who apparently don't know are the responsible people in the community who could set up a clamor for heavier penalties for hit and run drivers—mandatory jail, for instance.

The Criminal Code of Canada now gives a magistrate discretionary power to order a jail term of up to two years for failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

But this is discretionary. No irate citizen can tell a judge how to run his court. But Parliament can amend the code to establish stiffer deterrents if enough people badger enough MPs.

Parking Gift Proposed

A city "Christmas present" of free downtown parking a day or two before the Yule was proposed to city finance committee today and referred to businessmen for their opinions.

Ald. Robert Baird made the suggestion as a means of promoting goodwill for the city and drawing more motorists to the downtown area.

"It works in other places and it would draw a lot of business from outside," Ald. Baird said.

"I don't think it is a practical idea, but I won't stand in the way of exploring it," Mayor R. B. Wilson said.

Businessmen's associations, the Chamber of Commerce and downtown parking commission will be asked to comment.

CHRISTMAS 'OFFICE BASH' WARNING

Juice Drinkers Wanted for Parties

Victoria police have again denounced Christmas office parties.

But if you must have one—try doing it Scandinavian style, said Traffic Inspector Brooke Douglass today.

The Scandinavian style party was given prominence in Britain this week. The transport department explained it is a case of finding volunteers who would be expected to join in the party but to drink nothing stronger than orange juice.

The volunteers are then expected to be responsible for driving their drinking friends to their homes.

Insp. Douglass thought there could be some embellishments. Party-planners could make a game of it and the Speed limit on the Trans-Canada highway from the Pat Bay Highway to Thetis Lake is now up to 40 miles an hour.

It was cut to 20 earlier this week, because a widening operation had left the 3.5-mile stretch without white lines.

An accident Saturday evening resulted partly from the lack of guide lines.

A temporary centre line has now been painted on the road.

Arrests 'Soon' Say Police

City police have recovered $4,200 worth of rings and watches stolen Nov. 14 from Broad-Johnson Trading Centre.

No arrests were made. Detectives said the rings were recovered in the course of investigating the break-in, and indicated arrests will be made soon. The location was not revealed by police.

BEATING

The pawnshop and second-hand store was burglarized by yeggs believed to have obtained the key in the course of a savage beating on store manager Abe Wise, 2945 Quadra.

The 39 men's rings and 121 watches recovered are believed to be the total loot.

Mr. Wise, 50, was attacked in his apartment after returning home late in the evening.

56 STITCHES

It took 56 stitches to close his wounds, and he was in hospital a week.

At the time he did not realize why he had been attacked.

It was only after the robbery of the store that he discovered his keys had been taken.

Head-On Crash Claims Cyclist

First '64 Esquimalt Fatality; Driver Suffers Head Injuries

A motorcyclist killed instantly Wednesday night in a head-on collision on Esquimalt Road apparently wore no crash helmet.

The accident, Esquimalt's first traffic death this year, took the life of Harry Allon Ashcroft, 41, of 2024 Belmont.

He was flipped over the roof of a car driven by Robert Bruce Sutherland, 23, of HMCS Qu'Appelle, who suffered head injuries.

Esquimalt police said the accident took place on Esquimalt Road near Dominion at about 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Ashcroft, who was retired from the army in August of 1963, was apparently heading towards Victoria.

He was rounding a right-hand curve at Esquimalt and Wollaston when the crash occurred.

His machine was in collision with the left front of the compact car driven by Sutherland, which was travelling in the opposite direction.

HIT THE HOOD

Ashcroft apparently hit the hood, crashed into the windshield, then was flipped over the roof.

He died almost instantly.

The body was found directly behind Sutherland's car.

"There was no crash helmet around," said Sgt. Arthur Burton, of Esquimalt police.

Representation is currently being made to the provincial cabinet to have crash helmets made compulsory wear for motorcyclists.

Sutherland's car was damaged to one fender, the windshield and the roof.

TREATED FOR CUTS

Sutherland was treated for forehead cuts at HMCS Naden hospital, and released.

Ashcroft was with the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers until his retirement last year.

His military service was mostly in Eastern Canada.

Surviving are a sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Martin, 122 Maddock.

An inquest will be held, but no date has been set.

City Firm Wins Lighthouse Job

A contract for construction of a single dwelling and demolition of the existing dwelling at Nootka Lighthouse on Vancouver Island's Northwest coast, has been awarded Johnson Construction of Victoria.

Award of the contract, worth $38,000, was made this week by the department of transport.

Work, to be carried out under supervision of the district marine agent of the department, began Tuesday.

Estimated date of completion is April 30 next year.

Topics of the Day

Education Minister Leslie Peterson today said he will appoint school trustees to fill nomination day vacancies "between now and the end of the year."

One of the several vacancies occurring throughout the province is in the Greater Victoria School Board.

Mr. Peterson said he would take time to be sure of selecting appointees of high calibre to match the "high calibre of the elected trustees." He added no one would be appointed against their will.

The Prayer for Israel Group will meet Monday at 7:45 p.m. in Central Baptist Church, Pandora Avenue.

Students of Mrs. Martha Jankow who took part in a recent piano recital in Newstead Hall were Karen Ha, Diana Harvey-Smith, Brenda Donaldson, Barbara Carr, Lynne Ward, Wendy Heard, Vivian Roberge, Carolyn Harvey-Smith, Duncan Hopp, Lynn Stenning, Marion Wolochuck, Suzanne Heard, Phoebe Addison, Gerry Richmond, Diane Heard and Dawn Stenning.

Members of Victoria Art Gallery will be able to borrow works of art for use in their homes over the Christmas and New Year holidays.

About 160 pictures are available for loan at the gallery from Monday, Dec. 7, until Monday, January 4.

They include works by Max Bates, Muriel Barnes, Bruno Bobak, Susan Gibson, Phyllis Manning, Myfanny Pavelic, Molly Privet, Emily Sartain and Herbert Siebner.

The monthly loan is organized by the women's committee of the Art Gallery.

Private security patrols were proposed today as a means of reducing vandalism in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The city's cemetery committee received a bid price from George Barr, who said he would patrol the graves four or five times nightly between 7:30 p.m. and 4:30 a.m., using a trained dog.

Members decided to ask other patrol agencies for prices.

Thirty-three new Canadian citizens will be sworn in by Judge Montague Drake at a ceremony in Victoria Law Courts on Monday, Dec. 21, at 10 a.m.

They will be entertained afterwards at a coffee party in the YWCA by Greater Victoria Citizenship League.

Donald W. Kelly, 2537 Prior, was charged in city police court this morning with dangerous driving, driving while under suspension, and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Kelly, 17, was brought up from juvenile court to face the charges.

City police laid them after an incident Saturday in which two young girls were hit by a car as they stood on a sidewalk.

Kelly was remanded to Dec. 16 for plea, and released on $300 bail.

Ask The Times

Q. Re your article on the Sherringham lighthouse keeper. Please give date, place and name of lighthouse shelled by Japanese submarine during Second World War on the West Coast of Canada. Is the keeper still around? W.J.F.

A. The lighthouse was Esplanade Point light station. The shelling occurred just before dusk, June 26, 1942. The keeper's name was Robert Michael Lally. He died recently of natural causes.

Further to Saturday's Ask The Times re UNICEF Christmas cards, this is just to say they can be bought at most high schools, from the United Nations Association at Room 7, 749 Broughton, and from the Student United Nations Association in Canada at the University of Victoria. B.A.McK.

Men Will Welcome Style-Conscious Santa

By PENNY SAVER

At Christmas time, a young man's heart lightly turns to thoughts of clothes. That's a new twist to an old adage, but according to the poll I was speaking about the other day, this is what many young men want under the Christmas tree.

According to several young "experts" I polled, color is the main prerequisite for the younger generation's wardrobe. I found color—lots of it—in one of this year's most popular items in men's fashions.

One of the most pleasing combinations for the well-dressed young man-about-town is a dark—preferably black or charcoal grey—suit accented by a dull gold vest of soft doekskin or bright gold brocade. Some of the better-dressed gentlemen like a vest which tones in with a suit, such as loden green or chocolate brown. Vests come in a variety of colors to suit anyone's tastes—black, red, green and blue. They're available in suede, brocade, rayon and synthetic "glitter" fabrics. Prices range from $7.95 to $12.95.

The store also has cuff-links to please any man's fancy. One of the most popular styles is military cuff-links for servicemen or ex-servicemen. (With so many military personnel living in Victoria, these are ideal gift suggestions for that man who is so hard to buy for.) Cuff-links have insignias for any branch of the armed forces and are made of gold. The cost is varied—from $5 to $9.

Military ties are also available in the various service colors. They are priced from $2.50 and are a washable wool knit.

If you are plagued by the lack of ideas for gifts for any men on your Christmas list, give Penny a call at 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Exercise Will Help Correct A Swayback Figure Fault

Swayback is one of the most common of the faults of the female figure. Many an otherwise lovely silhouette has been spoiled by it. I am sure that most of you know what swayback means. The lower back is hollow and the hips stick out in the back. This not only ruins the figure, but places a strain on muscles and ligaments.

There are three points to remember when attempting to correct this defect. It is almost impossible to be swayback unless your abdominal muscles are lax and your knees are tense. Therefore hold your tummy in, hips under and do not over-extend your knees at the end of each step. The knees should not be bent but they should be relaxed.

Corrective exercises can do much to improve this condition but it is also essential to be aware of the way you are holding yourself. You should check on your posture many times each day. Let me give you two exercises which are corrective to swayback.

1. Kneel on both knees with your hands on the floor, one hand beneath each shoulder. Push the centre of your back up as high as you can. Now lower your back. However, do not allow it to slump downward. After lowering your back it should be in a straight line. Continue slowly.

2. Lie on the floor with your hips close to the wall and your knees bent, feet resting on the wall. Straighten your left leg and let it rest on the wall. Bend left knee and return left leg to starting position. This time straighten your right leg and let it rest on the wall. Return to starting position and continue.

This latter is a very mild exercise and is also beneficial to those who suffer from varicose veins. It drains the veins. Therefore, this motion has a two-fold purpose. It is corrective to swayback and helpful to those who have varicose veins.

There are three points to remember when attempting to correct this defect. It is almost impossible to be swayback unless your abdominal muscles are lax and your knees are tense.

Therefore hold your tummy in, hips under and do not over-extend your knees at the end of each step. The knees should not be bent but they should be relaxed.

Corrective exercises can do much to improve this condition but it is also essential to be aware of the way you are holding yourself. You should check on your posture many times each day. Let me give you two exercises which are corrective to swayback.

1. Kneel on both knees with your hands on the floor, one hand beneath each shoulder. Push the centre of your back up as high as you can. Now lower your back. However, do not allow it to slump downward. After lowering your back it should be in a straight line. Continue slowly.

2. Lie on the floor with your hips close to the wall and your knees bent, feet resting on the wall. Straighten your left leg and let it rest on the wall. Bend left knee and return left leg to starting position. This time straighten your right leg and let it rest on the wall. Return to starting position and continue.

This latter is a very mild exercise and is also beneficial to those who suffer from varicose veins. It drains the veins. Therefore, this motion has a two-fold purpose. It is corrective to swayback and helpful to those who have varicose veins.

French Will Be Her Forte

By PAT DUFOUR

Last minute sweating and nervous jitters are the order of the day at the University of Victoria this week as students swing into the last lap before their examinations that start on Monday.

Among them is first-year student, Diane, 19-year-old daughter of Coun. W. J. Wade and Mrs. Wade of Pacific Avenue. And, although Diane is just as anxious as many of the students in regard to most of her subjects, her French tests "should be a breeze."

The reason is that she's spoken little but French during the past year. After graduating from Oak Bay High School, Diane set off for Switzerland, there to spend a year as a student at Villa Choisy, a school for 45 girls, run by M. and Mme. Walter Scherrenleib at Neuveville.

Any idea that finishing school is nothing but fun is quickly dispelled when Diane tells you about some of the strictly-applied rules.

"We weren't allowed to use makeup or to back-comb our hair. Chewing gum was taboo and we were strictly limited to the number of letters and packages we could get each week."

To talk to boys was unthinkable and we were only allowed to walk in the garden after receiving permission from monsieur and madame."

Not that Diane didn't manage to pack in a lot of excitement during her year in Europe. However, most of it came when she was away on holidays.

And, she did meet boys! She recalls the Easter holiday she spent at Lugano, near the Italian border.

"There I was with my girl friend in the piazza (square) when we noticed this boy smiling at us. Imagine my surprise when he turned out to be a Canadian friend that I'd played tennis with two or three years ago! He was in school nearby."

One of the highlights of her European stay happened when she visited Zurich with a girl from her school.

"I saw my first opera, Rigoletto. My girl friend's father knew the owner of the opera house and he gave us a whole box to ourselves. We felt like real ladies of fashion!"

Not so successful was a weekend stay at a ski resort. Diane had gone there with a school friend and was anxious to try her skill on the ski slopes.

"But one of the other guests was a friend of monsieur and madame and she appointed herself our chaperone. She refused to let us ski, saying that if we broke an arm or leg she'd never forgive herself!"

Mrs. J. Boughey, Mrs. R. Gardier, Mrs. J. Morgan, Mrs. L. Olson, Mrs. F. York, Mrs. H. Todd, Mrs. R. Creech, Mrs. N. Williams, Mrs. A. Ackrill, Mrs. R. Baldoek, Mrs. F. Longair, Mrs. H. Fessey, Mrs. H. Quissey and Mrs. T. Southwell.

Rides to Study

Ingenuity of Hospital Auxiliary Creates Stars of Unusual Kind

Turkey feathers and ice cream cones played star roles when the Gorge Road Hospital Auxiliary held its annual bazaar in the hospital, Wednesday.

The feathers, with a little ingenuity, were transformed into novel corsages and centrepieces, tinted to form poinsettias. The cones were gilded and topped with colorful holiday baubles to make unique candles, shining from swaths of pine boughs and red bows and being suspended from "candelabra" of gilded clothes hangers.

The affair, which was opened by the hospital's administrator, William Morrison, raised proceeds of $900. General convener was Mrs. E. R. Owen. She was assisted in receiving guests by president, Mrs. George Callan.

Close to 200 guests were present for the turkeyburger luncheon. Serving on the committee were Mrs. Sidney Smethurst, Mrs. Harold Jackson, Mrs. J. L. Cook, Mrs. T. E. Pagdin and Mrs. J. W. Lewis. Mrs. H. T. Shemilt and Mrs. Owen convoked the tea and Mrs. William Green was in charge of coffee arrangements.

Most of the stalls were sold out long before the bazaar ended. Selling Christmas novelties were Mrs. Arthur Mawer and Mrs. H. V. O'Reilly. Other stall conveners were: Sewing, Mrs. Alfred Peddesden and Mrs. Frank Harvey; candy, Mrs. Charles Douglas and Mrs. Fred Campbell; home cooking, Mrs. Victor Mawer, Mrs. W. W. McGregor and Mrs. R. B. Simm; toys, Mrs. E. C. Brown and Mrs. H. E. Horner; lucky seven, Mrs. R. G. Aitken; white elephants, Mrs. G. F. Hilliard; flowers, Mrs. J. C. Gourlie; hats, Mrs. Corinne Coleman; jewelry, Mrs. P. L. Bonnell. Mrs. G. J. Bellavance and Mrs. Theo Copley acted as servers and Mrs. M. K. MacCrae was in charge of tickets. Convening the various raffles were Mrs. A. G. Hamilton, Mrs. John Phillips, Mrs. Edith Anderson, the Misses Marlene Parfitt and Luana Kellington.

Queen Mother Attends Preview of Fashions

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Mother Elizabeth was given a preview of British couturiers' 1965 collections Wednesday at a showing at Covent Garden Opera House.

She applauded royal designers Norman Hartnell, Hardy Amies and the rest of the British fashion world's top 10 at a special spring review held by the Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers.

Many Hartnell outfits were designed to appeal to the Queen Mother, one of his most important clients. The loveliest was a dazzling full-length sheath dress in crystal-encrusted man-made fibres. Its collar and hip-line were trimmed with bands of emerald and pearls.

But Hardy Amies showed a swinging suit strictly for young royals—a three-piece of flared trousers, bell-sleeved jackets and matching tunic top in wool and fibre houndstooth check.

The newcomer to the top ranks of British couture, Welsh-born designer Clive, stood up well to the distinguished competition with a startling day dress with flying panels made up in a wool mixture with huge multi-colored flower pattern.

DEAR ABBY...

He's Distracted!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Mine is a small problem compared to others, but it is still a problem. I play in the symphony orchestra, and a woman who has a season ticket sits in the front row at every performance. She is very careless about her position, Abby. The way she sits, I mean. This is very embarrassing to some of our orchestra personnel, and especially disconcerting during a concert. What can be done? I think someone ought to tell her. My wife says I should mind my own business. I'd like your opinion.

WOOD WIND

DEAR WOOD WIND: She may be a patron, so keep still. Or imagine she's a cello player without her cello. Or better yet, keep your eyes on the music. P.S. Your wood wind is sighing.

DEAR ABBY: Re your advice to "EMBARRASSED," the woman who ditched the nude statues when she saw the preacher coming up the road: I don't agree with you. If the woman's son is an art major, and got his sculpture in Italy, they might well be works of art rather than pornography. Was "EMBARRASSED" born in a corset? And did the preacher come into this world fully clothed? Some bare facts are cleaner than nasty minds fully clothed in ignorance.

ART FOR ART'S SAKE IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the art major's mother in Blytheville, Arkansas, reminded me of this incident: While touring Italy, many years ago, I bought a small, but splendid replica of Michelangelo's David. My wife's mother lived with us at the time. The poor inhibited little soul was terribly embarrassed at the sight of this magnificently formed, young, unadorned male body, so she KNIT him a "dress." And our David wore that knit dress for as long as my mother-in-law lived.

CHESTNUT HILL

DEAR ABBY: I met a nice gentleman through a friend and we have had many enjoyable dates. (I am over 40 and he is about 50.) Last night, when he brought me home from the theatre, he said: "I hope that you will have a new hair style the next time I see you." I was hurt and replied, "I don't tell YOU how to wear YOUR hair, do I?" My hair is always neat, Abby, but I don't go in for the latest hair styles.

I think he was wrong to comment about my hair, don't you? He is the most eligible bachelor in town, but if he is capable of such cutting remarks I wonder if I should tolerate it? I respect your opinion. What should I do?

HURT

DEAR HURT: He thee to the best beauty parlor in town and get a new hair style. Your friend was blunt, to be sure, but if you are wise (and interested in him) you'll accept his remarks as constructive criticism and set about to remedy the situation. You could wind up thanking him.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69704, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lace Enhances Gown

Canon Robert Willis officiated at the recent double-ring ceremony in St. Mark's Anglican Church that united Elly Louise Hettema, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Hettema of Soest, Holland, and Murray James Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson of Winnipeg, Man.

The bride wore a street-length gown of imported Belgian satin styled with a scooped neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. The bodice was highlighted with hand-made lace that dipped to a V at waistline. An inverted pleat at the front of the skirt created a belled effect. Her two-tier veil misted to shoulder-length from a satin circlet that was trimmed with pearls. Yellow roses and gold chrysanthemums formed her bouquet.

Only attendant, Mrs. Barry Jones, chose a pale green brocade sheath with a matching jacket. She highlighted the ensemble with a light brown-hat, trimmed with a toning green band.

Best man was Barry Jones. At a reception that followed in the couple's new home on Field Street, the toast to the bride's happiness was proposed by the best man.

The newlyweds spent their honeymoon up-Island.

Gifts From Your Kitchen Bring Zest to Christmas

A personalized Christmas gift is always something special to the recipient. And what could be more personal than something baked by you in your own kitchen?

Two very welcome items to include in your gift basket are Applesauce Raisin Bread and Banana Nut Bread. Both these breads have the added advantage that they may be made ahead of time and kept in the freezer. Then when you are ready to fill the basket, wrap them in polyethylene, top with a sprig of holly and your Christmas gift is ready.

APPLESAUCE RAISIN BREAD

One and three-quarters cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon baking soda, 1 cup raisins, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2 cans (4 1/2 ounces each) strained applesauce (baby food).

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Sift together flour and next four ingredients. Add raisins. Cream shortening with sugar. Add eggs and beat until very light and fluffy. Stir in flour mixture alternately with applesauce just until smooth. Bake in greased loaf pan (9"x5"x3") 50 to 55 minutes or until cake tester inserted in centre comes out clean. Cool overnight before slicing.

Christmas Tea To Help Retarded

Handicrafts and home baking made by those attending the Elford Occupation Centre will be featured at the annual Christmas tea and sale of the Greater Victoria Association of the Retarded on Wednesday, Dec. 9, from 2 to 5 p.m., in the centre.

Highlight of the afternoon tea will be a special birthday cake. There will also be stalls of needlework, Christmas gifts, superfluties, home cooking and mystery parcels. The Women's Auxiliary will convene a candy stall and the Cordova Girl Guides will sell handicraft items.

Canadians Love Fen Whort Sauce

TORONTO—Around Christmas time this year Canadians will gobble up some 300,000 bushels of bogberry or fen whort sauce.

That's enough bogberry or fen whort sauce to make a sandwich out of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Of course those are the old 16th-century names. Today it's called cranberry sauce.

It took researchers for the public service division of the British Motor Corporation of Canada Limited three days to find out how come this bitter-sour little fruit got that name. Finally, buried in an obscure herbalists' notebook was the information that the cranberry was so named because the slender stems are curved like the neck of a crane. It was called craneberry, then cranberry.

A distant relative of the blueberry, says BMC, the cranberry (or vacinium-marocarpum) with its oblong berry and evergreen leaves, was first commercially cultivated in the bogs of one Capt. Henry Hall of Barnstable County, Mass., in the year 1820.

Hall had this great big bog and a lot of time on his hands. One summer he drained it, in excess of three million bush-ed them thrive in the moist, acid soil. He harvested the plump berries in August, then filled the bog with water to protect his fen whorts during the winter.

This procedure is standard practice today, with growers from Newfoundland, Quebec, Ontario, to the Carolinas through to Minnesota and west to Washington and Oregon.

Bogberry producers have an annual North American crop in excess of three million bush-

Development of New Montreal Association Prompts Petition on Birth Control

By JANET KASK
MONTREAL (CP) — Birth control and family planning subjects little publicized on the Quebec scene until recently, now are being dealt with publicly in Montreal.

The Family Planning Association of Montreal was founded in October and received wide coverage in the women's pages of the Montreal French-language press. (One newspaper reported that four times as many French-speaking as English-speaking people attended the meeting at McGill University.) A group of French-speaking Montrealers, including doctors and sociologists, was among 182 Roman Catholic laymen from 12 countries to sign a petition to the ecumenical council in Rome asking the church to reconsider its ban on artificial birth control in the light of modern knowledge. And a University of Montreal sociologist has brought to light some facts about changing attitudes in Roman Catholic communities in Montreal in a recently published book, Planification des Naissances en Milieu Canadien-Francais (Family Planning in French-Canadian Society).

Mrs. Colette Carisse compiled a study of 80 families in three Montreal parishes, half from the working class (skilled laborers) and the other half professionals.

Mrs. Carisse said that in the last century Quebec's average birth rate has been cut by half, from nine children per family in 1850 to 4.49 today.

This is still larger than the average family in an industrialized society. An earlier study of 14 industrialized nations showed the average family had three children.

Although she found no statistically significant differences in aspirations in the two classes of people interviewed, there was a slight tendency for the professional class to wish for and to have more children than those in the working class. Also, among the more educated there was a slightly higher birth rate.

The majority felt that the Roman Catholic Church wanted them to have large families. A frequent reason given for this was that the church did not approve of the most effective birth control methods. The majority of younger couples (those married five years) felt that the couple should decide for themselves how many children they should have.

There was a considerable amount of criticism of the church by those interviewed and the general opinion was that the church would change its attitude towards birth control methods. Thirty per cent admitted having used, at one time or another, contraceptives not approved by the church.

Mrs. Carisse said in an interview that her study could not be considered "up to date" because it was made three years ago. Also it was felt that the climate had changed because of the stand taken by Montreal's Cardinal Leger when he urged the church to take a new look at its teaching on birth control and his statement that "the church must teach that 'married' couples are not merely reproductive but also persons."

Meanwhile, Montreal Roman Catholics have access to family planning information at clinics set up by SERENA (Service de la Regulation des Naissances). Ten years ago a Montreal couple, Gilles and Rita Breault, recognized the need for birth regulation education when working with married couples in an organization called L'Action Catholique.

They began instructing couples in their living room on the "Sympto-Thermic" method based on charting temperatures to determine the date of ovulation.

LEARN FROM CLINICS

A number of other "monitor" couples began teaching the method and the system became known as SERENA. Two years ago a central clinic was established in Montreal's Notre Dame Hospital. SERENA clinics also operate in other Quebec centres.

Mrs. Breault said the clinics instruct between 110 and 120 couples a month. Two medical advisers for the clinics, Dr. Roland Simard and Dr. Michel Bedard, have been teaching the Sympto-Thermic method to medical students at the University of Montreal for the last five years.

There are no publicized clinics, however, for those wishing information on other methods of contraception.

One of the goals of the new Family Planning Association is to ensure that such information and technical assistance will be available in the Montreal area to those who want it.

Dr. Jacques Mackay, president of Le Mouvement Laïque, a lay organization whose members include a number of prominent French-speaking Canadians, said the organization feels individuals should be free to plan families "if they think it best."

On the clause in the federal Criminal Code prohibiting the distribution and advertising of contraceptives, Dr. Mackay said the law "has no business imposing a ruling based on religion on a whole group of people."

The FPA resolved to support a private member's bill proposing an amendment to the Criminal Code submitted by New Democratic member of Parliament Robert Priddy. The proposed bill would make legal the sale and advertising of contraceptives.

But so far other Montreal organizations have remained tight-lipped on the issue.

Weather Proves Booster

Good weather brought extra guests when the Women's Parish Guild of St. John's Anglican Church held a Christmas bazaar and tea, Wednesday.

Many a Victorian, enjoying an outing, stopped to browse and buy at the many stalls that lined the parish hall for the annual event. Others took their leisure over a cup of tea and small sandwiches and cakes that were served in the lower hall. Ten conveners were Mrs. V. Ed-ward and Mrs. O. G. Batchelor.

Guests were welcomed by Mrs. George Biddle and guild president, Mrs. G. L. Hopkins, who was also general convener. Proceeds amounted to $800.

A large arrangement of holly flanked by red candles in silver candelabra centred the refreshment table at which Mrs. R. E. Burns, Mrs. K. Jagoe, Mrs. E. A. McGowan and Mrs. J. E. Fraser presided.

Individual tables were centred with artificial red candles and sprigs of holly. Mrs. M. Kirkpatrick Crockett was in charge of the decorations. Serviteurs were members of the guild and other church groups.

An array of cotton and terry towel aprons designed with kit tents, flowers and checks decked the stall manned by Miss Clara Graham. Also ranking high on the list was the fancywork stall that was highlighted with hand-embroidered pillow slips, place mats, pot-holders and a variety of knit goods. Convening the stall was Miss Margaret McFarlane.

Mrs. S. H. Brake was kept busy during the afternoon looking after the superfluity and costume jewelry stalls.

Everything from children's story books to luminous crosses was selling at the literature stall that was under the convener'ship of Mrs. A. Higgs.

Tiny bottles of jam wrapped in clear paper topped with miniature artificial poinsettias, jars of mince meat and bags of popcorn and candy vied for first place with loaf cakes, bran muffins and other cakes and pastries at the home cooking stall. The convener was Mrs. F. W. Taylor.

An instrumental trio and a small vocal ensemble created a particularly pleasing and well-balanced program for Victoria Musical Art Society, Wednesday night.

The Telemann Trio, consisting of Maurice Crawford, flute; Woodford Garrigus, Oboe, and Charles Palmer, piano, was enthusiastically received. This was the three Victoria musicians' debut as a chamber group.

The Amity Singers, conducted by Rodney Webster, is a group of 28 young people who were formerly known as the Varsity Singers. The name has been changed because the group has now no direct connection with the University of Victoria.

But by whatever name, this was good singing and a credit to the conductor who does such an imaginative job of coloring and controlling the

It is understood Mrs. Asselin was acting as a baby-sitter for Mrs. Houle at the time.

Mrs. Houle was freed on $25 bail after appearing in court and pleading innocent Nov. 13. Her trial was postponed to Nov. 20, then postponed again until Nov. 27. At that time the

Soap Box Derby Returns to City

The Soap Box Derby for boys, aged 11 to 15, will return to Victoria in 1965 after an absence of almost a decade.

It will be held May 23 on Cloverdale hill, George Seight announced today.

He is a director of Victoria Lodge No. 2, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, which will sponsor the event.

The hill will provide a long run from Quadra to Douglas. The finish line will be at the Hudson's Bay Co. warehouse and there will be a long uphill grade for the boys to brake," Mr. Seight said.

The Elks recently permission to use the recently-paved hill from Saanich Council and police Wednesday.

The Derby will be run under the sanction of the Soap Box Derby Association which receives assistance from General Motors Ltd.

One of the rules is youngsters must build their racers themselves and the car and driver cannot weigh more than 250 pounds.

"We will be conducting a series of clinics at the Elks Hall, 723 Cormorant Street, to explain

'CANOE ROUTE' TO BE MARKED

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's first throughway, the 3,000-mile cross-country canoe route of the early fur traders and explorers, will be marked with signs, the northern affairs department said Tuesday.

Before the CPR was built in 1885, this voyageurs' highway carried traffic from Montreal to Fort Chipewyan on Lake Athabasca in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Extensions linked it with Hudson Bay, the Arctic and Pacific Oceans.

FARMERS DIVIDED ON PROPOSAL

W. Indians Sought for Harvesting

By HUMPHRY DAVY
B.C. growers want the federal and provincial governments to look into the feasibility of importing seasonal labor from the West Indies.

This will be one of the main subjects discussed at the annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture at the Empress Hotel Thursday and Friday, Dec. 10 and 11. A resolution has been drafted asking for a government study Queries have been sent to Ontario to find out if workers from the West Indies are being employed on farms.

Other potential labor markets include Africa, South America, depressed areas in southern Europe and Mexico.

Reaction of V.I. growers to importing farm labor is mixed.

The majority are in favor of bringing in "seasonal workers" but not immigrants who would settle in the province.

"I'm dead against bringing in immigrants for this purpose," said Charles Mollard, secretary of the Saanich Fruit Growers Association. These people without technical training would only aggravate the unemployment problem during the winter months. They would be on relief."

MEXICANS

But he favored bringing in workers to help out during the farming season, especially Mexicans.

He suggested Canada follow the example of the United States by allowing Mexicans to work on farms during the growing season, returning to their country in fall.

A Mexican hoer is paid $1.25 a day in his country, he said.

"I'm sure he would be tickled pink to work here during the summer months at the going wage—about $1 an hour."

Mr. Mollard said the question of obtaining adequate farm help is important to B.C. growers because of the higher wages paid by industry," he said. "We can't afford to pay the same wages as industry."

Tom Mitchell, president of the fruit growers, said he didn't see the farms during the summer, the need for foreign labor on months but just can't find them.

in B.C. because of the higher wages paid by industry," he said. "We can't afford to pay the same wages as industry."

Tom Mitchell, president of the fruit growers, said he didn't see the farms during the summer, the need for foreign labor on months but just can't find them.

Herbert Bickford, a former official of the association, agreed. "We had sufficient labor from Victoria this summer to assist in berry picking," he said. It was wonderful how Victorians turned out during the loganberry season."

... "dead against

on the farm labor situation, including the question of bringing workers from other countries to assist in harvesting crops.

Immigration from the West Indies will be emphasized. A federation official said the resolution is prompted by an acute shortage of farm labor in B.C. especially in fruit and vegetable growing areas.

"It's not only a serious problem in B.C. but in other parts of Canada," he said.

6 Guerrillas Killed

RCMP Hunting for 'Leak' In Bribe Report

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP is working on the assumption that the first major leak in the 91-year history of the force provided the ammunition for Opposition charges of bribery and coercion which exploded in the Commons last week.

"You've got to work on the assumption there's a leak," said Commissioner George B. McClellan, 56-year-old native of Moose Jaw, Sask., in an interview Wednesday.

"I can assure you there were no documents missing. The one document which seems to contain most of the information mentioned in the House—there were very few copies of that document and all have been accounted for."

Ever since Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) sprang his surprise to most MPs in the Commons last week, there have been two recurring questions:

Where did he get information to enable him to say with such confidence that the RCMP's investigation showed one thing or another about the charges?

If a leak occurred, does that mean the secrecy of the rest of the RCMP's criminal, security and intelligence reports is in danger?

go easy in opposing a bail application for Lucien Rivard, wanted in the United States on a narcotics offence.

"It was restricted, top secret as was said in the House," Commissioner McClellan said. "But within the force there would be a number of people required to know it—the investigators, officers in a supervisory capacity."

"If there is a leak in the force, naturally our first line of inquiry is these people. Of course, there are other places people who would have had to know at least part of the information."

"I can only say we are conducting an inquiry. . . . we are not in a position to say more."

A leak by a member of the force would be a serious affair. The RCMP Act provides severe penalties for such major service offences—a year in jail, up to $500 fine, loss of pay up to 30 days, reduction in rank, loss of seniority, reprimand and even dismissal.

A leak by a former member of the force would come under the Official Secrets Act.

Unions Support Orderlies

The Victoria Labour Council Wednesday night threw its weight behind orderlies at Veterans' Hospital in their demand for more money.

Delegates voted to ask the Canadian Labour Congress to make representations with the veterans department employees' association.

Delegates also recommended the orderlies take action to affiliate their association with organized labor.

Wilson Leaves Sunday

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson will fly to Washington Sunday for talks with President Johnson. Wilson leaves Washington Dec. 9, for New York and a visit to the United Nations, then flies to Ottawa, leaving the next day for London.

WAGES OUTLINED

A letter from the orderlies committee at the hospital appeared for public support from trade unions.

Among other points, the letter said Veterans' starting salary of $240 a month compared with $319 at St. Joseph's, a union hospital.

NDP Pushes Questions On Deported Mafia Man

OTTAWA (CP)—The government was asked Wednesday to give the Commons details about the deportation of a Mafia figure last March and about correspondence between the immigration department and the Ontario Police Commission investigating organized crime.

The department already had indicated that after a lapse of three months it replied to queries by the commission and the Ontario attorney-general about the deported man.

Questions were filed by two New Democratic lawyers—Andrew Brewin (Toronto Green-wood) and Reid Scott (Toronto Danforth)—who were counsel for their party during an Ontario royal commission probe of crime.

Their written questions, filed with Commons officers Wednesday, followed a statement by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that he will question the government in the House about the police commission saying no replies were made to commission letters about the presence in

Crowded Hong Kong Growing to Clouds

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Land in overcrowded Hong Kong is being sold for as much as $950 per square foot, says Rev. Dr. David Chan, newly-appointed minister of Victoria's Chinese Presbyterian Church.

Canadians find this hard to believe, the minister said, because they are unfamiliar with the terrible overcrowding that exists in Hong Kong today.

As many as six or seven families are often crowded into small apartments, and the desperate need for building land has forced up prices.

"Many new apartment blocks are going up and, because of the high price of land, they tend to get higher all the time. Soon they will be 20 and perhaps 30 storeys high."

Dr. Chan said the new apartments are being rented at between $15 and $18 a month, which is about half the wage of the worker.

"But food is cheap," he added. "You can buy enough food for a month with seven or eight Canadian dollars."

The minister pointed out that while British Columbia has about 1,700,000 people living in an area of 366,255 square miles, Hong Kong has 3,700,000 people compressed into 392 square miles.

"That is why the people of Canada are so much envied by other countries. Even in Victoria, a city, there is a sense of freedom. Here there is room for everyone."

Born and raised in Hong Kong, Dr. Chan was called to Victoria to take over the Chinese Presbyterian Church at 812 North Park Street from Rev. Mo' Fong Leung. Small, scholarly Mr. Leung has retired after serving Canada of immigrants with criminal backgrounds.

Mr. Brewin asked for details of the deportation of Onofrio Minaudo, described before the Ontario Police Commission as part of the Windsor, Ont., section of the Mafia, the international crime syndicate.

The questions included:

"Was the department of citizenship and immigration aware of his association with the Mafia? Who, if anyone, made representations on behalf of the said Onofrio Minaudo in connection with his deportation or status in Canada?"

"When was the fact that the said Onofrio Minaudo was resident in Canada first called to the attention of the department of citizenship and immigration?"

ASKS BACKGROUND

He also asks whether Minaudo's background includes convictions in Italy for murder, armed robbery, double murder and in the United States for conspiracy to violate state labor laws.

Mr. Scott asks the dates of letters from the police commission chairman, Judge Bruce McDonald, and the Ontario attorney-general about Minaudo.

The department has said the commission wrote Nov. 18, 1963, and the attorney-general Jan. 13, 1964. Justice Minister Fayreau, immigration minister until last Feb. 3, replied Feb. 15 that the matter was in the hands of his successor, Mr. Tremblay, and Mr. Tremblay advised the commission March 12 of Minaudo's deportation.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

DISSA 'N' DATA: It's remarkable in this season of the unfunny comedy situation series that Jack Benny continues to go on and on with a format introduced initially in the early days of his program on radio. He also has gathered around him the same gang who helped mould the character he plays today.

The stingy nature of his character is the one old-time radio listeners remember and which has been carried over into television. According to those who know him best, this stinginess is not evident in his true-life activities. However, many is the time Benny himself dotes on this area of his fictitious character.

The most recent chance given him to display this side of his show person was Sunday when he received the Eleanor Roosevelt Humanities Award in Washington.

In accepting the award, the famed comedian wisecracked that he was more or less forced into the situation.

Said Benny: "I was given the choice of either being guest of honor or buying a bond."

The award was presented on behalf of the Israel Bond organization.

Two French-Canadian actors will appear with Canadian-born Walter Pidgeon in a two-part television drama on the Walt Disney Presents show this weekend.

The program, "Big Red," will appear on Channel

8 at 6:30 p.m. and on Channel 5 at 7:30 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 6.

The French-Canadian are Gilles Payant and Emile Genest.

Genest starred in another Disney production, "Nikki, Wild Dog of the North." But Payant, a 14-year-old Montreal drama student has never appeared before motion picture cameras before.

The champion Irish Setter, Red Aye Scraggs, who appears as "Big Red," is also a novice actor.

Peter Reilly and David Levy have been added to CBC's roster of foreign correspondents. Reilly will report to CBC radio and television networks from UN headquarters in New York while Levy is CBC's first correspondent in Moscow.

Reilly was seen Sunday in a special CBC-TV Newsmagazine, which documented the Congo massacres of last week.

"Through Children's Eyes," a musical in the round featuring four young folk artists called the Riverside Singers, will be presented by NBC Children's Theatre Sunday, Dec. 20, as the opening bill of its second year of full-hour television specials.

This will be the program's first venture into programming for the six-to-twelve-year age group. It will give children an opportunity to listen and respond to music imaginatively.

June Lockhart has been signed to a guest star part in a new television series, The Ghostbreakers. ... former opera star Helen Traubel was set for a role in the Valentine's Day series.

Christmas Tree 'Farmers' Make It Big Once a Year

By ROGER STONEBANKS

Christmas trees, of all things, are becoming a big business.

Although they have only a once-a-year function, growing and cultivating them provides extra income for farmers and contributes to the economy.

The provincial forest service says Christmas trees are big business, "but a big business carried on mainly by thousands of farmers, truckers, storekeepers and even housewives."

2.7 Million Cut

It is an ideal business for the small operator because it needs little capital outlay and expensive equipment.

Last year, 2,700,000 Christmas trees were cut in B.C. and forest officials expect this figure will go up 5 per cent this year.

The production of Christmas trees "ranks high as a cash crop to farmers and laborers," says a report this week from the Nelson forest district, one of the prime areas for growing trees.

The greater part of B.C. production, 1,898,923 trees, was exported, most of it to the United States. Cash value of the exports was $1,319,523 last year.

'Minor, Vigorous'

This figure represented 13 per cent of the export of minor forest products.

The federal forestry department describes Christmas tree production as "a minor yet vigorous forest industry."

In 1962, the last year for available statistics, 15,000,000 trees were cut across the country. Of these, 10,300,000 were exported at a value of $6,900,000.

In that year, nearly a quarter of the Christmas trees distributed in the U.S. were imported from Canada.

Christmas trees were cut in B.C. as early as 1920 but the industry only passed the 1,000,000-cut mark in the early 1940s.

A heavy increase in the last few years is attributed to the increasing demand from the U.S. because good-quality trees there are insufficient to meet the demand.

They'll Be Farmed

The crop being cut in B.C. is the first crop and in time, forest officials say, Christmas trees will have to be farmed like any other crop.

The forest service of the B.C. government issues Christmas tree cutting permits on crown land in the interior to encourage a sustained yield of trees. It is hoped that all lands, public and private, will be managed on this basis.

The main centres of production in B.C. are the East Kootenays, Kamloops and the Cariboo. The forest service says "no finer Christmas trees" are produced in the Pacific northwest than these.

Trees develop best in low-quality growing sites of low precipitation where the growing season is short.

Good Form, Color

Such conditions produce a tree of good form and color. Good growing sites such as the coastal areas, with ample moisture, are not suitable for Christmas trees "because of rapid growth."

On good sites the distance between whorls becomes too great and trees are spindly and lack density.

Early frosts and cold weather in the interior "set" the needles, preserve the cut trees and provide ample time for the trees to reach distant retail markets.

Coastal areas also are not considered suitable, says the forest service, because these areas are more valuable for long-term production of other wood products such as lumber.

Wildlife Artist To Address Navy Families

Wildlife artist Hugh Monahan of Vancouver will speak to navy officers and their families about his favorite hobby, "Painting and Hunting," in the wardroom of HMCS Naden, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The work of Mr. Monahan has been acclaimed through Europe and North America for its photographic quality in the matter of detail and has been featured in the magazine, Beautiful British Columbia.

An exhibition of his most recent paintings will also be displayed in the wardroom.

Following the show for the navy arrangements have been made for a two-day public exhibition to be held in the lobby of the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, Dec. 9 and 10 from 3 to 9 p.m.

Church Turns Down Legal Fees Payment

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—Park Street United Church voted Tuesday night not to pay the legal fees of Rev. Russell D. Horsburgh, who is appealing his conviction on five counts of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Rev. C. R. Plasket, named by Kent Presbytery as interim pastor following the 45-year-old minister's conviction last month said, however, the meeting agreed to continue Mr. Horsburgh's salary until the end of the year.

The church board voted 62 to 20 against paying legal fees.

Mr. Horsburgh resigned his Park Street pastorate following his conviction. He was sentenced to one year in jail on each of five counts, with sentences to run concurrently.

United Appeal Raises $4 Million Across B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than $4,100,000 has been raised this year by Community Chest and United Appeal campaigns through British Columbia.

Six of 16 communities in which appeals were held have reached or surpassed their objectives, and another five have succeeded in raising more than 90 per cent of their objectives.

Four campaigns were in the 70 to 90 per cent bracket and only the Nelson and district Community Chest drive collected less than 70 per cent of its objective.

The six areas that went over the top were Trail, Rossland, the Thompson Valley, Kinaird-Robson-Castlegar, Fruitvale and Greater Victoria.

In most communities the appeals have ended, but final figures on the amounts collected will not be known until late December.

IN NORTH

Rich Mine Found

REGINA (CP) — A tremendous deposit of the richest iron ore in the world has been found on Baffin Island in the Canadian Arctic, Arthur Laing, federal northern affairs minister, said today.

"It is unquestionably the best ore in the world," Mr. Laing said in a telephone interview from Swift Current. "It is so pure, and of such quality it can be fed directly into furnaces."

Mr. Laing said prospects of developing the deposit were "exceedingly hopeful." One of the largest firms in the world, which he declined to name, was interested in the Baffin discovery.

The strike is estimated to contain 180,000,000 tons of ore, with 69 per cent iron. It is located on Milne Inlet, about 120 miles south of the extreme northern tip of Baffin Island, Mr. Laing said.

Mr. Laing first made the discovery public in an address to a Liberal party meeting in his home constituency in Vancouver South Tuesday. Reporters reached him in Swift Current today for details of the strike, the magnitude of which was only recently determined.

The minister, in Saskatchewan for a three-day speaking tour, said the major problem to be overcome in developing the deposit is to extend the shipping season at Milne Inlet, which now is ice-bound for about 10 months each year.

He said the federal department of transport will send two icebreakers to Milne Inlet next summer to do surveys on the possibility of extending the shipping season by several weeks.

Development of the deposit would be economically feasible if the shipping season could be extended to three or four months, he said.

"If the deposit were at an open sea, it would be opened up at once. But we have a situation where ice reduces the shipping season to eight or nine weeks and we will see what can be done with icebreakers."

"The prospects are exceedingly good. We are hopeful we can get it out. We use icebreakers for shipping deliveries up there now."

Mr. Laing said the huge deposit was discovered by Murray Watts, "an outstanding prospector" in the north, who had been involved in the development of several mines.

FOUND 3 YEARS AGO.

Mr. Laing said Mr. Watts, a Toronto man, found the ore body about three years ago. Subsequent work had proved its "magnificent" quality.

"It's absolutely free of impurities of any kind," he said.

The minister said the "world-wide organization" which had expressed interest in the deposit estimated that 200-400 Eskimo workers could be employed in development; and that a "tremendous" price of $15 a ton could be obtained at delivery points in markets in Europe.

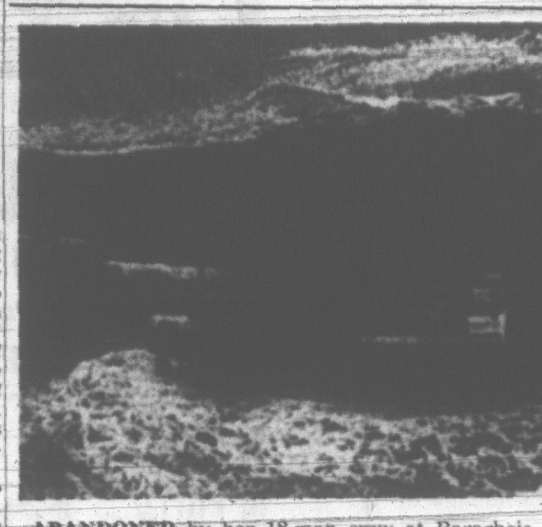

In comparison, iron ore produced in B.C. brought $8 a ton at delivery points in Japan.

The company had not yet bought mineral leases in the area, Mr. Laing said. He said the firm was asking only one type of aid from the federal government—aid in opening up Milne Inlet.

EARTHQUAKE CAUSES THAT HONOLULU SWAY

HONOLULU (AP) — An earthquake centred on Hawaii Island shook parts of the main island of Oahu today, including sections of Waikiki Beach and downtown Honolulu. No damage was reported.

Tremors also were felt on Maui Island where the Canada Cup golf matches are under way.

MPs to Get 'Free Vote' On Capital Punishment

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal cabinet today cancelled tonight's scheduled hanging of convicted killer Georges Marcotte and announced that Parliament at the next session will be given an opportunity for a "free vote" on whether to abolish capital punishment in Canada.

The last such debate in the Commons, in 1960, indicated a majority in favor of abolition but no formal vote was taken. The next year the Conservative government established the present system of capital and non-capital murder. Capital murder is the premeditated kind.

Marcotte, 32, was convicted of capital murder in the December, 1962, machine-gun slaying of one of two policemen who arrived on the scene of the famous "Santa Clays" bank holdup in St. Laurent, Que., near Montreal. One of the bandits wore a Santa Claus suit.

Such a conviction under the 1961 law brings an automatic death penalty, though it can be accompanied by a jury recommendation for mercy. There was none in this case.

Three times Marcotte appealed, once in Quebec and twice to the Supreme Court of Canada. He lost all three.

Twice the federal cabinet said—once last May and again Wednesday afternoon—that it would not interfere with Marcotte's sentence of death.

However, later Wednesday Marcotte's lawyer, Yves Mayrand, said he had received a letter from Jean-Paul Fournel, now serving a life term for non-capital murder in the same killings, offering new evidence in Marcotte's case in return for money.

Fournel was a key Crown witness against Marcotte.

Justice Minister Favreau agreed to take this new development to cabinet. The result was this statement at 1 p.m. (EST) today—about 11 hours before Marcotte was to go to the gallows:

The cabinet statement read: "The minister of justice referred to cabinet this morning the additional submission made to him last yesterday afternoon by counsel acting for Georges Marcotte. This submission contained new representations never made to the governor-in-council (cabinet) nor to the minister of justice before."

"The governor-in-council now has ordered that the sentence of death penalty in this case be commuted to a sentence of imprisonment for life. Under the new parole regulations now enacted, Marcotte may not be released from imprisonment."

Three times Marcotte appealed, once in Quebec and twice to the Supreme Court of Canada. He lost all three.

Twice the federal cabinet said—once last May and again Wednesday afternoon—that it would not interfere with Marcotte's sentence of death.

However, later Wednesday Marcotte's lawyer, Yves Mayrand, said he had received a letter from Jean-Paul Fournel, now serving a life term for non-capital murder in the same killings, offering new evidence in Marcotte's case in return for money.

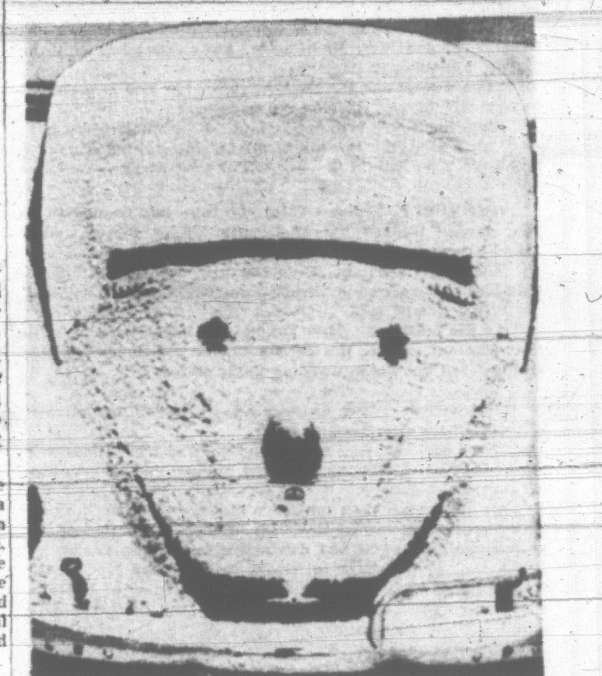

Fournel was a key Crown witness against Marcotte.

Justice Minister Favreau agreed to take this new development to cabinet. The result was this statement at 1 p.m. (EST) today—about 11 hours before Marcotte was to go to the gallows:

The cabinet statement read: "The minister of justice referred to cabinet this morning the additional submission made to him last yesterday afternoon by counsel acting for Georges Marcotte. This submission contained new representations never made to the governor-in-council (cabinet) nor to the minister of justice before."

"The governor-in-council now has ordered that the sentence of death penalty in this case be commuted to a sentence of imprisonment for life. Under the new parole regulations now enacted, Marcotte may not be released from imprisonment."

Non-Christians Urged To Unite World Effort

From AP-Reuters

BOMBAY (CP) — Pope Paul met today in a small, unprecedented, encounter with leaders of ancient non-Christian faiths and declared that all men must "begin to build the common future of the human race."

Twice he quoted Hindu scripture, first at the meeting with the non-Christian leaders, later at consecration of six new Roman Catholic bishops before more than 100,000 persons.

Pope Paul moved through his busy schedule without visible sign of fatigue. Smiling, he gestured in benediction whenever he approached a crowd, small or large.

The largest one gathered in the oval-shaped clearing of the International Eucharistic Congress where he consecrated the new bishops at a soaring outdoor altar. The Pope spoke of the new bishops as representing his greeting to all the world from India.

Pope Paul was driven to the ceremony through the assembled crowd in an open jeep with a hand rail to enable him to stand. But he did not use the rail. He stood and held both hands aloft continually in benediction.

PHOTOGRAPHER DIES, POPE AIDS WIDOW

BOMBAY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI today sent $5,000 to the widow of a young Indian photographer who was fatally injured Wednesday while taking pictures of the pontiff's motorcade.

The freelance photographer, Shyam Khalinjar, 26, was in a group of newsmen riding in a truck preceding the Pope's open car. He fell from the truck when it passed under a low bridge.

Khalinjar died early today after emergency surgery. When the Pope learned of the death, he immediately sent a cheque to the widow.

Father Kills 5, Takes Own Life

DETROIT (AP) — Police said a father apparently shot to death his wife, three of his four small children and a teen-age girl, then himself today.

Detectives said they found the bodies of the six in James Bergen's home. Another child was wounded critically.

Bergen, 38, called relatives to tell them he had killed "my wife and children," police said.

They found Bergen dead of a gunshot wound in the head, slumped on his living room floor near a telephone.

The officers identified the other dead as: Bergen's wife, Joyce, 22; a daughter, Linda, 18 months, and Robert, six months. Also killed was Mrs. Bergen's child by a previous marriage, Roger, six. Upstairs the teenager, about 17, was found shot in the head.

Shastri Opens British Visit

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India arrived today for a three-day visit to London, his first to the Western world.

His first official call was an audience with the Queen at Buckingham Palace. Then he had lunch with Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Shastri is seeking British backing for a new Indian campaign for a total ban on atomic weapons to counter the Communist Chinese nuclear threat.

Indian sources indicated Shastri also plans to seek more British economic assistance.

TEMPORARY?

Peron Resumes Exile in Spain

SEVILLA (AP) — Juan D. Peron resumed his exile in Spain today after a brief and unsuccessful attempt to re-establish himself in South America for return to Argentina, the nation that cast off his dictatorship in 1955.

Brazil blocked Peron's plan and ordered him back to Spain.

The reaction of the Spanish government was uncertain. Peron's back-to-Argentina campaign could be interpreted as a violation of one of the terms of his asylum, a pledge to avoid political activity. But officials in Madrid said they understood he would be allowed to remain temporarily, "until a definite decision is reached."

Whatever the outcome, Spanish authorities seemed to be shielding Peron from public attention.

The airliner that carried Peron back across the Atlantic, scheduled for Madrid, was diverted en route to Sevilla, 250 miles southwest of the capital.

Informed sources said the Spanish government ordered the diversion to keep Peron away from more than 100 reporters waiting for him at the Madrid airport.

The Brazilian government ordered the 69-year-old exile flown back to Madrid Wednesday night on the same Iberia airliner that had carried him to Brazil from Spain. He had planned to go on to Paraguay, to wait there until the time was ripe for him to return to Argentina.

CANADIAN GM PLANTS IDLED

TORONTO (UPI) — General Motors of Canada was shut down today as 22,500 General Motors workers struck plants and subsidiary companies in St. Catharines, Windsor, London, Oshawa and Toronto to back up their demands for a new contract.

High-level officials from the United Automobile Workers' Union and the company were unable to come to any agreement on a new deal before the 11 a.m. strike deadline.

Agency With Heart Helps Needy

By MARGE GILROY

The Unitarian Service Committee of Canada is known as "the agency with a heart."

It is non-denominational and non-political.

Since it was founded in 1945 it has provided emergency relief in areas of greatest human need.

It has demonstrated to others a way to help themselves.

It has created and promoted wider human concern for less fortunate people everywhere.

Today it works in Asia, the Middle East and Europe where it supports more than 60 projects including child care, through sponsorship of children's institutions; educational and vocational training programs; social welfare centres, hospitals and mobile medical units; community development through self-help programs and large-scale feeding and clothing projects.

LIFE'S JUST TOO SHORT ALBERT DECIDES, EXITING

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Albert H. Zabala, 31, won't go home again.

He said he was presented with a list of conditions under which his wife Adelaide, 27, would accept him and he decided it just wasn't worth it.

The ultimatum:

1. No drinking.
2. Hand over to me every cent you earn.
3. No stopping anywhere after work.
4. You are not to see your sister under any circumstances.
5. You are never to go out of your way to do favors for people, taking them here and there.
6. If we should happen to get company, it is not necessary to make a trip to buy beer.
7. You are to do what I ask you to do when I ask you.
8. You are not to set foot in any bar even if you are treated to a drink.
9. Do not lend anyone money even if it's just $2.
10. You are to let me cash your cheque or if you cash it I am to see it first.
11. You are never to tell me any lies; if you should, I will find out.
12. You are not to do any bragging of any kind to anybody.
13. If there is any business you have to take care of, you are to do it early and come straight home early.
14. If you have to get a haircut, you are to get one early and not at night like you said before; and it shouldn't take all day.
15. You are to be on time always.

These 15 items covered a lot of territory but she wasn't finished. The note concluded:

"All this I DEMAND (underlined four times) of you and more. If it is not agreeable to you, forget everything."

Zabala, a truck driver, did just that.

Mrs. Zabala, who filed suit for divorce last August charging cruelty, said she presented the demands to Zabala Wednesday in a pre-trial hearing on support of their two children, Lonny, 6, and Mona, 5.

Arthur Mayse

The Royal Canadian Navy and I get along amiably until such a headline as "Sailor Injured When Car Rolls" tops a news story in this dedicated journal. Then, all in a trice, the guns are manned, and a mixed broadside of grape, canister and assorted oddments comes whistling around my ears.

Why, I'm asked, do we always pick on sailors?

Well, chums, even though I'm a detached skirmisher and haven't written a headline for years,

I propose to point my .22 single-shot Cooney at your steel-plated sides and blast away.

Specifically, I'm going to dish up a serving of automobile accident headlines culled from as far back as 1938:

"Miner's car skids into path of truck; policeman has spill; patrol agent injured in crash; horse-trainer to stand trial; sailor suffers lacerations as jeep-car collide; Ueluelet man dies after traffic crash; counsellor injured in highway mishap."

"City alderman slightly hurt; teacher misses grand opening; juvenile unhurt in car flip; tourist hurt in crash of trailer; soldiers injured; seaman charged in child's death; soccer star killed; B.C. nurse killed; taxi-driver killed; trucker killed; bishop's car mows down 20."

could go on and on, and so can anyone else who wishes to spend a day checking our grim records of highway disaster. But I hope my point is made.

To answer the newsman's "who, what, how, where and when," we identify people as best we can in the space and time available. If you happen to be a sailor, or miner, or mow'em-down bishop whose guardian angel is off duty, the fact may, and often does, appear in headline type.

Pausing only to quote a head of the sort we like to use... "Navy Helps In Fight to Save Leg"... Let's peer for a moment over a desk-man's shoulder as, with seconds to go, he does his stint.

As in most trades, there's much that fails to meet the eye; and few outside the business have ever heard of the "unit count."

Heads aren't just banged out according to the dictates of fancy. They're tailored to fit and the job can be a heartbreaker.

In earlier years, many of the drawers around the big "horseshoe" news-desks held a jar of bicarbonate. I'm not sure what the boys do now munch anti-acid tablets, perhaps.

Sometimes the desperation shows through. Not often, though. The average head is a neat capsule which says much in very little space, and a few remain quotable for years.

Since we've delved this deep into the works, I'll go on to give you the recipe for a well-ordered news story.

The head conveys the stark facts: bishop, car, and 20 moved down.

The lead, which is to say the first paragraph or two of the reporter's story, enlarges on those facts.

Each succeeding paragraph develops the account with further information.

Ideally, an editor in a hurry (and when isn't he?) can fit a story to his available space by chopping paragraphs from the bottom. Thus, even if only lead and head remain, the reader will receive the basic details.

As a final suggestion, if a newspaper headline happens to irritate you, don't chew out the reporter who wrote the story. He, lucky fellow, didn't have to shoe-horn a head on it to the tune of a space-unit for each letter except "P", which rates half a unit, and "M" at one-and-a-half.

Try it sometime, it's tickler than Scrabble!

INQUEST TOLD:

Death Slug Shattered In Pelvis

If the bullet which killed Allan Austin-Moonie, 40, of 170 Hartland, had entered his body one inch higher he would still be alive, a pathologist told a coroner's jury today.

Charged with non-capital murder in connection with the fatal shooting is his 21-year-old son, Gary Allan Moonie, of the same address.

Mr. Moonie died Monday in Royal Jubilee Hospital as a result of the gunshot wound.

RICOCHET

Dr. Ross McNeely told the inquest the bullet hit the pelvis causing it to ricochet downward into the lower abdomen.

He said the direct cause of death was attributed to muscle damage, kidney damage plus peritonitis, an infection of the membrane lining the abdominal cavity.

When the bullet hit, it shattered into several fragments and spread throughout the pelvic region.

Dr. McNeely said several bone chips were removed from the man's body, ranging in size from a pinhead to that of his thumb.

Dr. J. D. Stenstrom, one of two physicians which attended the deceased, said there were two holes in his body, one on the right hip and one on the left buttock which was slightly larger.

TRANSFUSIONS

He said the victim received 15 pints of blood before bleeding was contained.

"Infection became his major problem until his death," he added.

He testified Moonie was conscious from time to time until his death.

The inquest was adjourned until Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in Saanich courtroom unless an order received from the attorney-general's department to discontinue it.

Bail Asked In Charge Of Murder

Gary Allen Moonie, 21, charged with non-capital murder in the shooting death of his father, was remanded without plea to Dec. 10 when he appeared in Saanich police court Wednesday.

His father, Allen Austin Moonie, 170 Hartland, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital on Monday. He had been admitted to hospital with gunshot wounds to the lower abdomen on Saturday.

In court Wednesday, Moonie applied for bail. Magistrate William Ostler told him he was uncertain whether he could grant bail, but told him he would check the situation and let the accused man know.

Moonie is represented by Vancouver lawyer Hugh McGivern.

STIFFER PENALTIES SOUGHT

It's Cheaper to 'Hit and Run' Than Face Impairment Charge

By PETE LOUDON

An inefficient law is largely to blame for the large number of hit and run incidents in Greater Victoria.

In many cases, it's cheaper to run and be caught than to stay and take your medicine.

No policeman will come out and say this. They don't want to spread the sorry information.

But it's a fact that a drinking driver faces a fine of $300 to $350 if he stays at the scene of an accident and is convicted of impaired driving.

He is also faced with possible heavy damages, because his insurance is void if he is ruled impaired.

On the other hand, if he runs, he faces a probable fine of $100 if he is caught. In the period between the accident and his arrest, you can bet he'll become sober.

And if he runs there is a 50-50 chance he'll get away.

Last year there were 304 hit and run incidents which resulted in only 126 convictions.

This year, prior to the end of October, there were 235 hit and run cases recorded by the city police—and only 134 of these cases were solved.

Vancouver has surpassed already last year's record of 1,709 fleeing drivers and a 20 per cent increase is forecast, this year. Two of the 116 people left lying on the pavement died.

Why tell this story? Won't it make more drivers run if they've been drinking and they have an accident?

Don't fool yourself. The statistics prove that the facts are well known now by the people who take the calculated risk of drinking too much before driving home.

The people who apparently don't know are the responsible people in the community who could set up a clamor for heavier penalties for hit and run drivers—mandatory jail, for instance.

The Criminal Code of Canada now gives a magistrate discretionary power to order a jail term of up to two years for failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

But this is discretionary. No irate citizen can tell a judge how to run his court. But Parliament can amend the code to establish stiffer deterrents if enough people badger enough MPs.

Socreds Vs. 'Leftists': Bennett Likes Idea But Strachan Doesn't

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today said he would welcome a straight fight between his party and a combination of "leftist forces" in a provincial election.

But Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said he would have no part in any deal with other parties.

Both were commenting on statements by University of B.C. political scientist Dr. Ronald Smiley at a panel discussion Wednesday in Vancouver on feasibility of the Liberal and New Democratic parties combining.

Dr. Smiley said if the opposition combined in only eight constituencies, which he did not name, the Social Credit government would be toppled because it had power only on the basis of a 40.3 per cent of the popular vote.

"These leftist Liberals and the NDP are the same," said Premier Bennett.

"If you look back to 1952 you will find they were making statements like that then. They've always tried to get a union of these leftist forces."

But, Mr. Bennett said, every time there has been a "straight fight between them and Social Credit we have won because the people recognize that we are the only party of free enterprise.

"I would welcome a fight like that."

Mr. Strachan said Dr. Smiley's suggestion was "utter nonsense."

He said the premier knew this and naturally wanted the NDP to embroil itself in a "political impossibility."

"He (Bennett) was part of that other coalition and he'd like to make it permanent for us."

"At one time the premier was saying exactly what Dr. Smiley is saying."

"WANT TO DEAL" "But I want no part of any coalition, merger, or deal, or anything."

"The Socreds, Liberals and Conservatives are all the same and only one party is an alternative to them and that is, the New Democratic Party."

Dr. Smiley, who identified his political leaning only as "anti-Social Credit," said the present government was irresponsible.

"We don't know the premises on which decisions are made. We just get a series of coups and dramatic announcements."

He said the Social Credit government is niggardly in its welfare and education policies.

This brought a bristling retort from Premier Bennett.

"Of course, that's a stupid statement," he said.

Social welfare allowances and education grants in B.C. are the highest in Canada and "the only place in the world" where a homeowner's grant is to be found, he said.

Parking Gift Proposed

A city "Christmas present" of free downtown parking a day or two before the Yule was proposed to city finance committee today and referred to businessmen for their opinions.

Ald. Robert Baird made the suggestion as a means of promoting goodwill for the city and drawing more motorists to the downtown area.

"It works in other places and it would draw a lot of business from outside," Ald. Baird said.

"I don't think it is a practical idea, but I won't stand in the way of exploring it," Mayor R. B. Wilson said.

Businessmen's associations, the Chamber of Commerce and downtown parking commission will be asked to comment.

CHRISTMAS 'OFFICE BASH' WARNING

Juice Drinkers Wanted for Parties

Victoria police have again denounced Christmas office parties.

But if you must have one—try doing it Scandinavian style, said Traffic Inspector Brooke Douglass today.

The Scandinavian style party was given prominence in Britain this week. The transport department explained it is a case of finding volunteers who would be expected to join in the party but to drink nothing stronger than orange juice.

The volunteers are then expected to be responsible for driving their drinking friends to their homes.

Insp. Douglass thought there could be some embellishments. Party-planners could make a game of it and the

Arrests 'Soon' Say Police

City police have recovered $4,200 worth of rings and watches stolen Nov. 14 from Broad-Johnson Trading Centre.

No arrests were made.

Detectives said the rings were recovered in the course of investigating the break-in, and indicated arrests will be made soon. The location was not revealed by police.

BEATING

The pawnshop and second-hand store was burglarized by yeggs believed to have obtained the key in the course of a savage beating on store manager Abe Wise, 2945 Quadra.

The 39 men's rings and 121 watches recovered are believed to be the total loot.

Mr. Wise, 50, was attacked in his apartment after returning home late in the evening.

56 STITCHES

It took 56 stitches to close his wounds, and he was in hospital a week.

At the time he did not realize why he had been attacked.

It was only after the robbery of the store that he discovered his keys had been taken.

First '64 Esquimalt Fatality; Driver Suffers Head Injuries

A motorcyclist killed instantly Wednesday night in a head-on collision on Esquimalt Road apparently wore no crash helmet.

The accident, Esquimalt's first traffic death this year, took the life of Harry Allon Ashcroft, 41, of 2024 Belmont.

He was flipped over the roof of a car driven by Robert Bruce Sutherland, 23, of HMCS Qu'Appelle, who suffered head injuries.

Esquimalt police said the accident took place on Esquimalt Road near Dominion at about 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Ashcroft, who was retired from the army in August of 1963, was apparently heading towards Victoria.

He was rounding a right-hand curve at Esquimalt and Wollaston when the crash occurred.

His machine was in collision with the left front of the compact car driven by Sutherland, which was travelling in the opposite direction.

HIT THE HOOD

Ashcroft apparently hit the hood, crashed into the windshield, then was flipped over the roof.

He died almost instantly. The body was found directly behind Sutherland's car.

"There was no crash helmet around," said Sgt. Arthur Burton, of Esquimalt police.

Being made to the provincial cabinet to have crash helmets made compulsory wear for motorcyclists.

Sutherland's car was damaged to one fender, the windshield and the roof.

TREATED FOR CUTS

Sutherland was treated for forehead cuts at HMCS Naden hospital, and released.

Ashcroft was with the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers until his retirement last year.

Surviving are a sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Martin, 122 Maddock.

An inquest will be held, but no date has been set.

City Firm Wins Lighthouse Job

A contract for construction of a single dwelling and demolition of the existing dwelling at Nootka Lighthouse on Vancouver Island's Northwest coast, has been awarded Johnson Construction of Victoria.

Award of the contract, worth $38,000, was made this week by the department of transport.

Work, to be carried out under supervision of the district marine agent of the department, began Tuesday.

Estimated date of completion is April 30 next year.

Topics of the Day

Education Minister Leslie Peterson today said he will appoint school trustees to fill nomination day vacancies "between now and the end of the year."

One of the several vacancies occurring throughout the province is in the Greater Victoria School Board.

Mr. Peterson said he would take time to be sure of selecting appointees of high calibre to match the "high calibre of the elected trustees." He added no one would be appointed against their will.

The Prayer for Israel Group will meet Monday at 7:45 p.m. in Central Baptist Church, Pandora Avenue.

Students of Mrs. Martha Jankow who took part in a recent piano recital in Newstead Hall were Karen Ha, Diana Harvey-Smith, Brenda Donaldson, Barbara Carr, Lynne Ward, Wendy Heard, Vivian Roberge, Carolyn Harvey-Smith, Duncan Hopp, Lynn Stenning, Marion Wolchuck, Suzanne Heard, Phoebe Addison, Gerry Richmond, Diane Heard and Dawn Stenning.

Members of Victoria Art Gallery will be able to borrow works of art for use in their homes over the Christmas and New Year holidays.

About 160 pictures are available for loan at the gallery from Monday, Dec. 7, until Monday, January 4.

They include works by Max Bates, Muriel Barnes, Bruno Bobak, Susan Gibson, Phyllis Manning, Myfanwy Pavlic, Molly Priver, Emily Sartain and Herbert Sieber.

The monthly loan is organized by the women's committee of the Art Gallery.

Private security patrols were proposed today as a means of reducing vandalism in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The city's cemetery committee received a bid price from George Barr, who said he would patrol the graves four or five times nightly between 7:30 p.m. and 4:30 a.m., using a trained dog.

Members decided to ask other patrol agencies for prices.

Thirty-three new Canadian citizens will be sworn in by Judge Montague Drake at a ceremony in Victoria Law Courts on Monday, Dec. 21, at 10 a.m.

They will be entertained afterwards at a coffee party in the YWCA by Greater Victoria Citizenship League.

Donald W. Kelly, 2537 Prior, was charged in city police court this morning with dangerous driving, driving while under suspension, and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Kelly, 17, was brought up from juvenile court to face the charges.

City police laid them after an incident Saturday in which two young girls were hit by a car as they stood on a sidewalk.

Kelly was remanded to Dec. 16 for plea, and released on $300 bail.

Ask The Times

Q. Re your article on the Sherringham lighthouse keeper: Please give date, place and name of lighthouse shelled by Japanese submarine during Second World War on the West Coast of Canada. Is the keeper still around? W.J.F.

A. The lighthouse was Estevan Point light station. The shelling occurred just before dusk, June 20, 1942.

The keeper's name was Robert Michael Lally. He died recently of natural causes.

Further to Saturday's Ask The Times re UNICEF Christmas cards, this is just to say they can be bought at most high schools, from the United Nations Association at Room 7, 749 Broughton, and from the Student United Nations Association in Canada at the University of Victoria. R.A.McJ.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

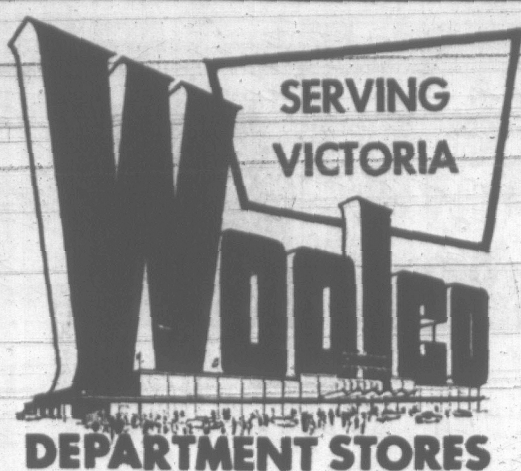

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

As a consolation award, the volunteer could be permitted to take home the left over refreshments (where the seals are unbroken of course.)

Insp. Douglass says in recent years the trend in Victoria has been away from Christmas drinking parties downtown. They lead to broken bottles and broken homes.

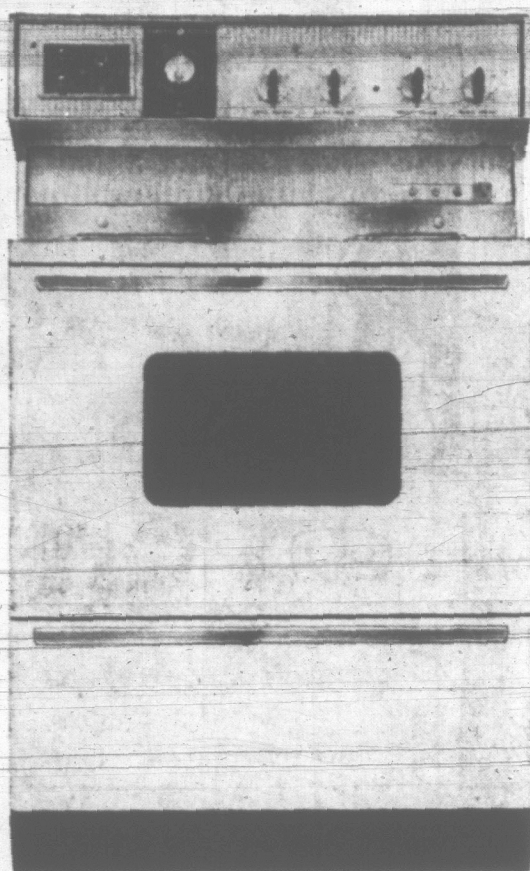

"The boss thinks he is doing a fine thing in throwing a party. The poor guy who knows it will cause an argument with his wife must please the boss and attend. He is caught in the middle," said the inspector.

Peron Resumes
Exile in Spain

SEVILLA (AP)—Juan D. Peron resumed his exile in Spain today after a brief and unsuccessful attempt to re-establish himself in South America for return to Argentina, the nation that cast off his dictatorship in 1955.

Brazil blocked Peron's plan and ordered him back to Spain.

The reaction of the Spanish government was uncertain. Peron's back-to-Argentina campaign could be interpreted as a violation of one of the terms of his asylum, a pledge to avoid political activity. But officials in Madrid said they understood he would be allowed to remain temporarily, "until a definite decision is reached."

Whatever the outcome, Spanish authorities seemed to be shielding Peron from public attention.

IN NORTH

Rich
Mine Found

REGINA (CP)—A tremendous deposit of the richest iron ore in the world has been found on Baffin Island in the Canadian Arctic, Arthur Laing, federal northern affairs minister, said today.

"It is unquestionably the best ore in the world," Mr. Laing said in a telephone interview from Swift Current. "It is so pure and of such quality it can be fed directly into furnaces."

Mr. Laing said prospects of developing the deposit were "exceedingly hopeful." One of the largest firms in the world, which he declined to name, was interested in the Baffin discovery.

The strike is estimated to contain 180,000,000 tons of ore, with 69 per cent iron. It is located on Milne Inlet, about 120 miles south of the extreme northern tip of Baffin Island, Mr. Laing said.

Mr. Laing first made the discovery public in an address to a Liberal party meeting in his home constituency in Vancouver South Tuesday. Reporters reached him in Swift Current today for details of the strike, the magnitude of which was only recently determined.

The minister, in Saskatchewan for a three-day speaking tour, said the major problem to be overcome in developing the deposit is to extend the shipping season at Milne Inlet, which now is ice-bound for about 10 months each year.

He said the federal department of transport will send two icebreakers to Milne Inlet next summer to do surveys on the possibility of extending the shipping season by several weeks.

Development of the deposit would be economically feasible if the shipping season could be extended to three or four months, he said.

"If the deposit were at an open sea, it would be opened up at once. But we have a situation where ice reduces the shipping season to eight or nine weeks and we will see what can be done with icebreakers."

"The prospects are exceedingly good. We are hopeful we can get it out. We use icebreakers for shipping deliveries up there now."

Mr. Laing said the huge deposit was discovered by Murray Watts, "an outstanding prospector" in the north, who had

POPE PAUL

'Men Must Build
Common Future'

BOMBAY (CP)—Pope Paul, in his greeting to all the world met today in a small, unprecedented encounter with leaders of ancient non-Christian faiths and declared that all men must "begin to build the common future of the human race."

Twice he quoted Hindu scripture, first at the meeting with the non-Christian leaders, later at consecration of six new Roman Catholic bishops before more than 100,000 persons.

Pope Paul moved through his busy schedule without visible sign of fatigue. Smiling, he gestured in benediction whenever he approached a crowd, small or large.

The largest one gathered in the oval-shaped clearing of the International Eucharistic Congress where he consecrated the new bishops at a soaring outdoor altar. The Pope spoke of the new bishops as representing ing his greeting to all the world from India.

Pope Paul was driven to the ceremony through the assembled crowd in an open jeep with a hand rail to enable him to stand. But he did not use the rail. He stood and held both hands aloft continually in benediction.

WATCH FROM ROOFTOPS

The crowd in the oval and the thousands jammed on rooftops recalled the massive turnout of more than 1,000,000 who greeted him on his arrival Wednesday.

His day, however, began more quietly, in small audiences. One brought him together with the non-Christian leaders, and before them he cited a Hindu prayer and commended its use.

Marking a new dimension in the outlook of the Roman Catholic Church.

Action Planned
At Next Session

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal cabinet today cancelled tonight's scheduled hanging of convicted killer Georges Marcotte and announced that Parliament at the next session will be given an opportunity for a "free vote" on whether to abolish capital punishment in Canada.

The last such debate in the Commons, in 1960, indicated a majority in favor of abolition but no formal vote was taken. The next year the Conservative government established the present system of capital and non-capital murder. Capital murder is the premeditated kind.

Marcotte, 32, was convicted of capital murder in the December, 1962, machine-gun slaying of one of two policemen who arrived on the scene of the famous "Santa Claus" bank holdup in St. Laurent, Que., near Montreal. One of the bandits wore a Santa Claus suit.

Such a conviction under the 1961 law brings an automatic death penalty, though it can be accompanied by a jury recommendation for mercy. There was none in this case.

LOST THREE APPEALS

Three times Marcotte appealed, once in Quebec and twice to the Supreme Court of Canada. He lost all three.

Twice the federal cabinet said—once last May and again Wednesday afternoon—that it would not interfere with Marcotte's sentence of death.

However, later Wednesday Marcotte's lawyer, Yves Mayrand, said he had received a letter from Jean-Paul Fournel, now serving a life term for non-capital murder in the same killings, offering new evidence in Marcotte's case in return for money.

Fournel was a key Crown witness against Marcotte.

Justice Minister Favreau agreed to take this new development to cabinet. The result was this statement at 1 p.m. (EST) today—about 11 hours before Marcotte was to go to the gallows.

The cabinet statement read: "The minister of justice referred to cabinet this morning the additional submission made to him last yesterday afternoon by counsel acting for Georges Marcotte. This submission contained new representations never made to the governor-in-council (cabinet) nor to the minister of justice before."

"The governor-in-council now has ordered that the sentence of death penalty in this case be commuted to a sentence of imprisonment for life. Under the new parole regulations now enacted, Marcotte may not be released from imprisonment."

Father
Shoots
5, Self

DETROIT (AP)—Police said a father apparently shot to death his wife, three of his four small children and a teen-age girl, then himself today.

Detectives said they found the bodies of the six in James Bergen's home. Another child was wounded critically.

Bergen, 28, called relatives to tell them he had killed "my wife and children," police said.

They found Bergen dead of a gunshot wound in the head, slumped on his living room floor near a telephone.

The officers identified the other dead as: Bergen's wife, Joyce, 22; a daughter, Linda, 18 months, and Robert, six months. Also killed was Mrs. Bergen's child by a previous marriage, Roger, six. Upstairs the teenager, about 17, was found shot in the head.
